On the Farm Front

(A. A. Wall, Agricultural Representative, York County)

Most dairy farmers would agree that without good practical feeding of the herd, and a sound breeding programme, the chances of success are elusive. They will admit too, that doing a good job on both feeding and breeding isn't easy. It takes lots of knowledge and experience. Many dairymen feel they are not getting what they should out of their herds. If I had to select one thing a dairymen could do to enable him to do a better job of both feeding and breeding, I'd pick some form of milk weighing and testing.

R.O.P. and D.H.L.A. are both key programmes for good management I know that a man can do a lot just by watching the milker carefully. But anyone who starts actually weighing milk will say that they had to change their opinion on a good many cows in the herd. The short termers, the low testers and the slow breeders all show up clearly in a herd on test. With only about 6% of our cows on test, we are slipping behind other parts of the world. Some States south of the border have around 30% on test, while in Europe the figure gets up to around 50%.

There are troubles in putting a herd on test. Time necessary for weighing, boarding the tester and paper work are all objections. But farmers have to get around lots of problems these days and these are well worth solving too. Dr. Clare Rennie had a good point on testing last week at the annual meeting of the Jersey Club. From records, he pointed out that cows on test averaged $100 more when sold than those with no records.

There are openings now in D.H.L.A. Associations in York, and I'll be pleased to give the details to anyone interested. R.O.P. is open to purebred herds. The B plan requires once-a-month weighing only, and regular plan is available by writing to the Canada Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

There is always some argument about how much importance should be placed on a heifer's record. Most people like to give a poor starter a second chance. At the Jersey meeting, Dr. Rennie said that any heifer 20% under the herd average, should be culled, because there is only one chance in four that she will improve enough to be worth keeping. The heifer that does exceptionally well in her first year also poses some problems. We don't know if she will go on to be a world beater, or if she has burned herself out in her first race. Dr. Rennie's research showed that while these heifers do not often equal their first lactation again, their lifetime records are still much better than the slow starters. Records show that these good young producers also last longer than those that treat themselves better than they treat their owner.

A new 5-room Public School is planned for the hamlet of Greenwood in Pickering Township. The structure, to cost an estimated $100,000, will accommodate the 81 students in the Greenwood section, in addition to pupils from the Kinsale portion of Pickering. The exact location of the site has not been finalized.

A large, but extremely orderly gathering of ratepayers attended a special meeting in the century-old schoolhouse on Wednesday evening of last week. Mr. Geo. Moore, a former trustee, acted as Chairman.

At the present time, a portion of the Greenwood enrollment is going to Brock Road. All Kinsale pupils are travelling by bus to Brooklin. When the new Greenwood school is completed, this arrangement will be changed. The Kinsale students living east of the townline will continue to go to Brooklin but those living in Pickering Township's side of the boundary will attend at Greenwood.

The Greenwood Board is headed by the Chairman, Mr. Herb Middleton. Other members include Messrs. Wm. Clark and Donald Goodwin.

Arnold Mortson Chairman Markham School Area Board

If their first meeting is any indication, the new board of trustees for Markham Township School Area No. 3 have a busy season ahead of them. The five members—Arnold Mortson, representing S.S. 3; Melvin Wellman, S.S. 4; S. R. Patterson, S.S. 5; S. Richardson, S.S. 7; and Wm. Hibbard, S.S. 6—met Friday evening in the school room at S.S. 6, and it was almost midnight before they adjourned.

The appointment of a secretary was an immediate necessity, and Mr. Harold Hill of Gormley, who has been secretary for the S.S. No. 7 board for the past year, was chosen to do the job at a salary of $750.00.

Finances were another matter of immediate concern, since salaries must be paid within two weeks. Mr. J. K. Clarke of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce (Richmond Hill Br.) was present to offer the services of his bank. This is the bank that will be used for the current account, but savings already at the Bank of Nova Scotia, Unionville Branch, will be left there for the present.

Mr. Arnold Mortson, the candidate who polled the largest number of votes at election time, is the board chairman, and following him Melvin Wellman of Headford School is vice-chairman. S. R. Patterson, a C.P.A., was appointed chairman of the finance committee, and S. Richardson is chairman of the Property and Building Committee.

Other matters discussed by the board were: (1) the disposition of surplus monies left in School Sections; (2) School Telephones; (3) Purification of Water supplies; (4) Janitor service; (5) Travelling Libraries; (6) Emergency Servicing to equipment; (7) Transportation; (8) school and stationery supplies; (9) Supply teachers, and other pertinent matters. Normally, one meeting a month should be sufficient. However, it is estimated that 18 may be needed during the first year of this new venture to forestall emergencies.

Tenders for construction of the new hospital for Richmond Hill may be called for in March, with opening planned for 1963. TIPS

ON BROOD SOW CARE

The ration you feed your brood sow during gestation will help decide the size, strength and condition of the litter she'll farrow. Don't try to cheat your brood sow, it can't be done.

In fact, in an effort to maintain her own body, a sow will resorb some of the tiny embryos. In this way you might be losing pigs you never even see because your sow's nutritional requirements are not met. If you don't feed her properly through the gestation period you'll get smaller litters.

Watch your sow's weight and condition carefully. The average sow should gain from 100 to 115 pounds during gestation. Provide plenty of water.

We recommend hand feeding each sow 4 to 6 lbs. per day of Purina Sow Chow Concentrate and grain, mixed

1 to 4, or of Purina Sow Chow Complete. In addition your sow will make good use of high quality, leafy hay if you have it available. Tests at Purina's Research Farm have shown that feeding is even more important than breeding if you want to farrow those big, healthy litters. Give me a call, or drop in. I'd like to tell you about Purina's Hog Feeding Program for baby pigs too!
