High School News

On Saturday night the one hundred odd students and teachers who were responsible for HMS Pinafore, had their best sleep in several weeks.

Last fall the school was informed that the 1962 production in the spring, would be Pinafore, a takeoff on the great British navy of the Victorian era. This operetta was to have over sixty chorus and lead parts and auditions would be held immediately. As a result, the cast was chosen and work started by mid-February. After the examinations things really began to roll with rehearsals night after night and on Saturday mornings. Friday and Saturday were the climax to weeks of worry and frustration when the smash hit was presented.

The operetta was a huge success with more seats sold than available.

The chorus was par excellence but the directors feel that our lead players were the main reason for the success.

Herbert Otto played the lost lover, Ralph Rackstraw, who had fallen in love with his captain's daughter, against all the principles of rank and wealth.

Lynda Nolan sang with all the beauty and more, that one would expect from Josephine as she told her story of a sailor's love to a mournful moon. She was, without a doubt, a major factor in our success.

The Captain, played by Eric Button, was ignorant of the love affair and hoped to marry his daughter to the First Lord of the Admiralty, and gain for himself rank and riches.

Tim Weese strutted as Sir Joseph Porter KCB, who was so excited at the prospect of Josephine's hand that he generally created chaos out of a peaceful situation.

Mike Cadieux, "dragged" himself around as Dick Deadeye, the bad apple in the barrel, who informed the Captain of the love affair.

High School News

Buttercup, played by Donna Ratcliff, captured the hearts of the audience when she told her story of mixing the Captain and Ralph up at birth and that actually their ranks should be reversed.

Donna Hisey playing Sir Joe's cousin Hebe, managed to snag him in the end, although he came rather reluctantly.

The Bosin, Gary Yates and John Hisey, the carpenters mate certainly added flavour with the song, "A British Tar."

Mike Paul once again, did a bang-up job on the stage design. In addition he practically built a ship on stage and produced the art work for the program cover.

To our teachers we owe a great deal of thanks. Mr. Smith directed all the acting. Mr. Waite was pianist and orchestra conductor. Mr. Mercer conducted the male singing and Mrs. Gresham was the overall producer.

Our thanks to all these plus the many more who contributed with real effort.

The second meeting of the Doubles Club was held on Saturday evening in the Anglican Church Hall, following bowling. Mr. Glen Hunter was the acting chairman and conducted the election of officers which were as follows: Pres., Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winfield; Vice Pres., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rehill; Secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Jackson; Treas., Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hamby; Group leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jones and Mr. and Mrs. David Mounce.

A large crowd attended the Schneider Buffet Luncheon and Demonstration on Monday evening in the Legion Hall, under the auspices of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 459. A travelogue on South America and a film on the Modern Hostess were given. Prizes were donated by the following local merchants: N. O. Boyle, I.G.A., Raffla's East End Store, D. Hodgins, Carload Groceries, and were won by Mrs. Mae Symes, Mrs. T. Baxter, Mrs. Ruth Sheppard, Mrs. James, Mrs. Stan Lewis, and Miss Sadie Boskey. Other prizes were donated by the Ladies Auxiliary.

RINGWOOD

At the Sunday evening service the film "Angry Jungle" was shown and Mr. Paul Matthews of Humberstone, Toronto, was guest soloist.

Mrs. Harry Preston, Mrs. Jos. Fockler and Mrs. A. L. Law had dinner with the Nigh's on Friday. Mrs. Law has just returned from spending the winter in Florida.

Mr. G. Gower, Mr. and Mrs. F. Steckley called on Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller on Tuesday afternoon.

A number of Ringwood lads attended the Lions Club annual hockey banquet held Monday night in the Anglican Church Parish Hall.

Mrs. Mildred of Aurora spent the weekend at the Nigh's. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Teetzel called on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atkinson on Saturday evening. They left for Europe on Sunday. Mrs. A. Summerfeldt spent a few days in Toronto last week and attended the funeral of a friend.

Mr. Clarence Preston and son Larry visited his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Fockler on Sunday.

Ringwood Home and School held a meeting on Wednesday evening, April 11. The speaker, Mr. Joe Lewis of Stouffville Nurseries, spoke very interestingly on "Trees". The senior pupils entertained by singing three songs: "The Cuckoo Song," "Casey at the Bat," "Captain Morgan's March". Refreshments were served by the ladies of the Home and School Club. Watch for announcement of next meeting.

What world situation were you worrying about a year ago that couldn't have been serious? Inexperted investors who dally around the curb usually wind up out in the street.

Dr. Paul Yates was born in Markham. His father, Rev. W. Yates was Pastor of the Markham U.M. Church. Dr. Yates was a Pilot with the R.C.A.F., following his discharge he began studies in the University of Western Ontario. He graduated with honors in 1950.

Since 1954, Dr. Yates has been associated with the United Missionary Society Hospital at Tungan Magajiya, Nigeria. He will be the missionary speaker at the Missionary Safari service in the Dickson's Hill Church, Monday, April 23rd.

Editor's Mail

Dear Editor: I feel that the students and staff of Stouffville District High School are to be commended for their splendid performance of H.M.S. Pinafore. The excellent efficiency of Mr. Duxbury and staff is well reflected in the student body.

attended this performance and are now looking forward to attending S.D.H.S. with added interest. I doubt that many people realize the weeks of practice and preparation involved in an operetta such as was presented. It is certainly wonderful to see local talent being put to good use. Once again, Congratulations!

Harry R. Hunt, Principal, Lloyd Public School, Gormley.
