WEDDING

BEACH — ASHTON)

Miss Catherine Rose Beach and Mr. Vernon Edward Ashton exchanged marriage vows and rings in an evening ceremony which took place Friday, June 29th in Trinity United Church, Uxbridge.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Beach of R.R. 3, Stouffville. Mr. Ashton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ashton of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Candlelight and baskets of delphiniums with white mums adorned the altar, where the Rev. Donald Jay officiated at the double-ring ceremony, assisted by Mr. Francis Cook, student minister of the Goodwood charge.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length white peau de soie gown with sweetheart neckline and self-train. She wore her mother's bouffant wedding-veil beneath a tailored crown of the dress material. Miss Beach made her own gown after a design by Mrs. D. Hutchison of Toronto, and designed and made her own head-dress. She carried a cascade of pink roses, stephanotis and ivy, and wore the groom's gift to her, a pendant on chain of gold, circled by a miniature golden wedding band, the gem suspended within was of hemlite.

Her attendants were Miss Diane Taylor of Uxbridge as Maid of Honour, and Mrs. Kenneth McKean of Newmarket as bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in turquoise and white brocade dresses with petal skirts and each wore the bride's gift to her, a silver brooch. Their circled head-dresses of the dress material were covered by pretty turquoise net "whimsies". Slippers of turquoise satin completed their costumes. Each carried a cascade of tinted turquoise carnations, delphiniums and stephanotis. Tiny pieces of the bride, Joanne and Marilyn Beach served as flower-girls attired in short full white organza dresses, with sashes and sashed coronets of turquoise organza. They carried white panniers of carnations and delphiniums and wore silver lockets given them by the bride.

Mrs. Clarence Colby sang "The Lord's Prayer" prior to the ceremony, and "These whom God hath Joined Together," during the signing of the register. Mrs. L. Hutchinson accompanied at the organ. Both are of Uxbridge.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Beach chose a costume of pink lace over taffeta with white accessories, and her corsage was of pink and white mums.

The groom's elder sister, Mrs. Robert Hughes of Orillia, was costumed in mauve linen dress and jacket with white accessories, and her corsage was of matching mauve and white mums.
