

LET'S TALK CARS

"Little Old Lady" Cars

How important is mileage in judging a used car's value? Not so important as condition, visible wear and dealer reputation.

Despite the fact that most folks shopping for a used car still let the speedometer influence them mightily, recorded mileage can be very misleading in assessing a car's worth.

This is especially so today when manufacturers' advertising claims for reduced service on current models causes a tendency by drivers to regard their cars as mechanical wonders not requiring regular service as formerly.

Excessive engine wear causing oil burning in two-and-three year old cars is fairly common. The reason is that short trip driving, if not accompanied by frequent oil changes, causes rapid sludge and varnish build up. It is this chemical change in oil that causes most extensive wear.

Roughly one gallon of water is produced by a car's combustion system for every gallon of gas consumed. In a cold engine, instead of going out the exhaust pipe, this water condenses and runs into the crankcase, setting up sludge deposits. Sludge plugs engine oil passages in the rings, causing oil burning and ultimately varnish.

If your car gets a lot of this "little old lady" type of driving (frequent trips of less than eight miles) you will be well repaid by longer engine life and ultimately greater resale value to have your oil changed every thirty to sixty days even though your mileage is below maximum recommendations.

GREEN RIVER

At the time of writing we are pleased to hear that Mrs Benson Draper is doing as well as can be expected following her recent operation but is still confined to the Scarborough Hospital.

We are very sorry to hear that Mr J. Davies had the misfortune to fall and injure his hip and is in the Scarborough Hospital.

Mr L. Roberts has gone on a trip to see his folks in Saskatchewan.

The future belongs to them

They can look ahead with confidence, because already this enterprising young man has laid the foundation for a program that will protect his bride-to-be and his own future years through the planned and systematic savings of Sun Life insurance.

Ont. Hydro Central Region Staff Moving to New Office

Ontario Hydro's Central Region office staff members will be located, on Monday, July 30, at their new headquarters, 5760 Yonge Street in Willowdale, approximately 1 1/2 miles north of Hwy. No. 401. The move from the original quarters, 210 and 224 Bloor St. West, is scheduled to get underway the end of the business day, Friday, July 27, and continue throughout the weekend.

Central Region staff deals with the various municipal hydro systems and Ontario Hydro rural area customers in a triangular section of the province extending along Lake Ontario shore from Bronte almost to Port Hope with the apex at Sutton on Lake Simcoe. This is the most densely populated sector of Ontario and Central Region supplies the electric power needs for rural customers and those of municipal hydro systems including Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby, Ajax, Port Credit, Oakville, Milton, Georgetown, Brampton, Toronto Township, Richmond Hill, Aurora, Newmarket, Stouffville, Markham, and the thirteen Metropolitan Toronto municipal hydro systems, also Bolton Woodbridge and others.

There are two giant thermal electric power stations in Central Region at present and two more are planned in the near future for this Region which has nearly a third of the province's total power load. One of these power stations is the R.L. Hearn G.G.S. which has a total capacity of 1,200,000 kw and is the largest steam electric power station in Canada. The Hearn station is capable of meeting the power requirements of most of the Metropolitan Toronto municipal hydro systems. The second thermal power station still under construction is the Lakeview G.S., which ultimately will have a capacity of 1,800,000 kw and will be the biggest electric power house in the British Commonwealth.

Near Centre of Region
In the new Regional headquarters on north Yonge Street in Willowdale, the Commission's Central Region staff will be nearer the geographical centre of the Region and better situated for quicker contact with the various municipal hydro systems and area staffs. The Regional staff formerly housed in two separate buildings on Bloor Street will be all under one roof in the new Yonge Street headquarters which should result in increased regional staff efficiency and smoother communications, Adam S. Smith, Central Region Manager stated.

Ontario Hydro believes in using its own product for heating. The new Regional building will be all-electrically heated in winter and will use electrically operated air conditioning equipment in the summer. The new Regional office building is L-shaped and the main building is 165 ft. x 50 ft. facing on Yonge Street with a wing of 110 ft. x 47 ft. There will be two stories with a usable basement section. The new Regional office cost approximately $750,000 to build.

Central Region office building is the largest Ontario Hydro regional office in the province. It will house the regional office staff of more than 200 persons

Canadian Liquor Bill $925 Million

Canadians are gradually drinking their way to the $1,000,000,000-a-year mark. Sales of liquor, beer and wine increased three per cent to $925,134,000 in the year that ended March 31, 1961, the bureau of statistics reported last week.

Governments got more than half of it—$473,000,000, not including sales taxes. Of that figure, Ottawa took $235,968,000 in the form of excise taxes and import duties.

The volume — excluding Prince Edward Island, which didn't report—also went up. Figures, with the previous year's sales volumes in brackets: Liquor 14,748,000 gallons (14,299,000); beer 235,469,000 gallons (233,953,000); and wines 8,302,000 gallons (7,752,000).

Per-capita consumption figures were not available.
