

Doctors Pledges Run To $3000 For County Hospital Addition

The 55 doctors on the active staff of York County Hospital have already pledged $30,000 to the current campaign fund for the hospital addition at Newmarket and the new hospital at Richmond Hill. Dr. Crawford Rose, Aurora, and chief of the medical staff at York County Hospital, said today.

"I am quite gratified at the response," Dr. Rose said, "and the doctors have accepted their goals."

Total expected from the doctors is $120,000," Dr. Rose said. Donations run from $1,000 to $3,000 each spread over a five year period.

Douglas Storms, Richmond Hill, vice-chairman of the campaign, reports average donations of $2,156 from the trustees of York Central Hospital.

Stewart Willmot, Newmarket, employees canvass chairman, reports that 14 of the county's larger firms have agreed to a payroll deduction plan.

Royal Merkle, R.R.4, Stouffville, chairman of the board, Chesebrough-Pond's (Canada) Ltd., is vice-chairman of the canvass of county corporations.

Meanwhile, 800 women have been recruiting the 5,000 canvassers who will be making the calls throughout the county within the next few weeks.

The women are associated with the hospital auxiliaries, headed by Mrs. A. W. McLennan, King Township, and Mrs. R. J. Miller, Richvale. "The success or failure of the campaign rests on this effort," commented Ray Marshall, general chairman.

As the women turn in the names of their canvassers, a canvasser training committee men goes to work. Headed by James Couss, Stouffville, it has the assistance of the life underwriters in the county.

The underwriters, plus additional volunteers, are the "trainers" and with the help of flip charts, volunteer canvassers kits, and literature, there will soon be qualified canvassers at everyone of the 28,000 front doors in York county.

This group is ready to go into action with the sub-committee throughout the county.

The general canvass itself is headed by a committee chairman, Ian Baxter, King, with the help of Jack Dunklee, Richmond Hill.

It is broken into regional committees and local chairmen as follows: Sutton, John Sibald; Keswick, Dalton Mercer; Mount Albert, Jack Rye; Bradford, Tom Evans; Newmarket, Gordon Manning; Aurora, Tom Mulock; Oak Ridges, Nora Taylor; Schomberg, Ken Maynard; King City, Robert Silcox; Nobleton, Lorne Goodfellow; Woodbridge, Carl Haas; Maple, L. A. Wells; Kleinburg, D. G. West; Richmond Hill, Robert Little; Thornhill, Jack Barracough.

Some sections are being set up this week. Among the area chairmen are: S. Lundy for Newmarket and Bradford; J. McLeod for Aurora and Oak Ridges; G. Somers and Eric White for King Township and Woodbridge, Maple and Kleinburg; and George Fish for Gormley, Markham Stouffville and Unionville.

The drive, for over 1 million, will provide a total of 389 beds in York County. Today, the county has only 113 beds for a population of 115,000, or less than 1 per 1,000 compared with an Ontario provincial average of 5 beds per 1,000.

Editor's Mail

Stouffville Tribune, Stouffville, Ontario. Dear Mr. Editor:

With good courage, and at no small sacrifice in labour and gifts, our people have just completed an addition to the front of the church building.

Such a venture always brings its measure of problems, trials of patience and even momentary doubts. This being true, the members and friends of Stouffville United Missionary Church found your commendatory editorial in last week's issue of The Tribune most comforting and encouraging... coming, as it does, from a responsible public voice. On their behalf, as well as my own, I want to say a whole-hearted THANKS.

Arthur Walsh, —Pastor.

EASY TO MAKE CARPORT INTO STORE AREA

In searching for expandable space around the home when the need arises, many people look first at the attached garage. Because it's often an integral part of the house, it's logically convertible into part of the home's living area.

The next question of course; is, "What happens to the car, the children's bikes, garden tools and all the rest that goes into a typical garage?"

An ideal solution can be found in a combination carport-patio which offers a bonus of ample storage space. A central storage area provides the foundation for a cantilevered roof of translucent plastic panels. One side offers year-round weather protection for the family car while the other half of the overhang serves as a shelter for outdoor family activities.

Making the structure is an excellent do-it-yourself project. The plastic panelling is as easy to work with as wood, is lightweight and requires a minimum of stock lumber for its supporting framework.

A young dairyman put a question to me the other day that I suppose concerns all dairy farmers. He wanted to know what he could do to cut down his feed bills. I was a little surprised at the question though, because the man was a good manager and gets top production from his cows. With cows milking well, this man will have to be careful about changing the feed since milk production is so vital to making money. There are a few points though, that he could consider.

One is the amount of protein in the grain ration. Many dairy herds get more protein than they need. The importance of protein has perhaps been over-sold. This is particularly true where there is good quality roughage to feed. Most of the hay this year has good quality and so the feeder can safely cut back a little on the protein in the grain. With good roughage, grain with 13% to 14% protein should be adequate. There could be a good saving here since protein is a most expensive nutrient in the feeds.

Another idea to cut costs is to use more grain corn in dairy feeds. Up to now, dairy farmers have been afraid to use high corn rations but in research it has come through with flying colours. Corn has a high energy content and it helps to maintain the body weight of heavy producers. It's an economical feed too, because usually one pound of nutrient in corn is cheaper than it is in oats. Some recommendations now have well over one-half the grain supplied in corn.

Another point is that to get the most milk for money spent on feed, the amount of grain fed has to be decided by the amount of milk each cow gives. The old rule of thumb that a pound of grain for each four or five pounds of milk isn't too bad but the really good feeders will now also take into account the butterfat of the milk. Butterfat has to be considered but with it added, the old rule doesn't hold up. A table of figures has to be used. We have up-to-date figures of this kind and would be glad to discuss them with any dairyman anxious to check his feeding programme.

Dairy farmers are victims of bad publicity every time radio active fall-out gets in the news. Strontium 90 levels are always given for milk which leads people to believe that milk is the only carrier. This is far from the truth, because the high level of calcium in milk nullifies to a large extent, the effect of Strontium. Milk just happens to be used as a measuring stick for all food products. The fact is that the radio active hazard in milk is much less than in many other foods.

WILL ALCOHOL BE SOLD IN WHITCHURCH DINING ROOMS?

Will licensed dining rooms bring much revenue to our Township? The "Vote No" Committee invites you to consider the following points:

A bottle of whiskey (for dining room)	Cost to the restaurant	Gov't. tax Levied	Gov't. rebate to Township	Cost to customers
	$5.00	$.50	$.10	$13.00

GREAT REVENUE ALL RIGHT! BUT WHO GETS IT?

Licensed dining rooms in such areas as Musselman's Lake or Lake Wilcox could easily mean extra police protection. The cost of such protection could easily be $5,000 a year for the Township. To offset this increased cost to our taxes dining rooms would have to sell $250,000 worth of liquor!

Let's keep Whitchurch Township a cheaper place, as well as a safer place, in which to live. Vote "NO" on November 21st.
