Uxbridge Man Committed To Trial By Judge & Jury

An Uxbridge man was committed to trial by Judge and jury last week after a preliminary hearing was told he had fired eight bullets into a home where people were sleeping. George Millar is charged with possessing an offensive weapon dangerous to the public peace, and criminal negligence. Fred Yeomanson, a friend of the accused told the court that on the night of Dec. 7, he and Millar went to Port Perry where they consumed 12 bottles of beer between them. He said later, Millar got into a fight with a man named Jack Todd in an Uxbridge restaurant. Millar got a .30-30 rifle from his farm home, and Yeomanson drove him up the street towards Todd's home, he said. "As we went by Staley's (where Todd lived) he lifted the gun up and fired past me," said Yeomanson, who was driving. He said the pair then got a truck from Millar's home and drove to Toronto the same night. Sgt. Howard Nickling, Uxbridge Police Department, told the court he found eight bullets had gone through the walls of the Staley home where Todd roomed. He said one of the bullets whizzed through outer walls and imbedded itself in an inside wall, just four feet above a child's head. Sgt. Nickling said he sent all the bullets to the attorney-general's crime laboratory in Toronto when they were recovered. Todd's home, he said, was picked up Dec. 12 in connection with the incident.

HERE'S A SAMPLE RECIPE:

TOMATO CHEESE BREAD

2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1/2 cup milk, approximately
4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 can (1 1/2 oz.) tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
4 tablespoons shortening

Mix and sift dry ingredients, cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives. Add milk, gradually, mixing slightly to form dough. Knead gently 6 or 7 times. Press in a greased 10" x 3 1/2" x 2 1/2" loaf pan. Pour tomato sauce evenly over dough. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in a GAS oven.
