Told Jail Cell Not Room In Royal York

An impaired driving hearing was adjourned for two weeks, while the accused brings his doctor in as a witness to give evidence regarding the state of his health.

After the Crown evidence had all been heard in an impaired driving charge against 60-year-old Wilmot Tweedie, of Greenwood, the accused asked for the two-week adjournment to enable him to produce his physician to prove to the court he suffers "dizzy spells."

Tweedie told Magistrate Crawford W. Guest he "may have suffered one of those dizzy spells after walking backwards and missing a chair by a foot and landing on the floor during a sobriety test at the Pickering Township Police Station."

Constable Donald Martin told the court he went to a Woodview road residence on the night in question and saw a parked car in the driveway.

The vehicle's motor, the officer said, was running and he saw the accused getting out of the car. Tweedie, Constable Martin said, was staggering badly and held the car for support.

He said the accused's speech was "very slurred," and he was unable to get his driver's licence out of his wallet after "fumbling around for a few minutes."

According to the officer, the accused "had no idea where he was and thought he was still on his way home."

At police headquarters, Constable Martin said, the accused wanted to take a sobriety test. He attempted to walk a line three times, the first two, staggering badly.

The third time Constable Martin said, Tweedie told him, "I did pretty good that time" and started walking backwards to sit down on a chair. He said he missed the chair by a foot and landed on the floor.

The accused kept saying "I'm sober," Constable Martin said. He added the accused "talked a lot" after he had been locked up.

Tweedie wanted to know why he was kept in the cells when he was cold. He said he only had a board to lay on.

His Worship suggested he was not staying in the Royal York Hotel for the night.

Sgt. John Pugh said he adjusted the thermostat in the station when the accused complained of the cold and said it was over 75 degrees.

Witness Garraan Federick Vanderberg, at whose residence the accused's car was in the driveway, said Tweedie was behind the wheel attempting to get out of the snow.

Tweedie told the court he had been in Toronto all day and bought a dozen beer and a dozen porter at West Hill on his way home. He said he "may have had one drink of beer with his cousin at West Hill on the way home."

Crown Attorney W. Bruce Afleck asked if that one drink was out of a barrel. He further wanted to know how the accused could have been lost completely within 10 miles of his home.

Tweedie said he went off the road and "when you get into those driveways, you just don't know where you are." He added he has been off work due to "dizzy spells" and may have taken one when he missed the chair at the police station.

Defence witness William Roy Hill said the accused has been off work at General Motors because of dizzy spells and is under doctor's care.

Defence witness John Fitzpatrick, when called to the stand by the accused, said he "didn't know much about it and had never seen him take a dizzy spell. He said he may have taken one in his presence, but he wouldn't have known about it."

Tweedie then asked for the adjournment until he could have his doctor appear in court to give evidence on his behalf.

5 GOOD REASONS FOR YOU TO VOTE LIBERAL

ON APRIL 8th.

1. To establish decisive leadership in the governing of Canada's affairs, and thus restore the confidence of Canadians in our Government.
2. A Liberal Government will take vigorous action to restore, revitalize and expand our economy to increase national and individual wealth.

The Liberal programme for Canada includes these three major significant points to be made effective within the first term of office.

3. To provide a Medical Insurance Programme, sponsored and financed on a contributory basis by the Federal Government; and in co-operation with the Provinces and the Medical Profession; so that no one in our country will suffer privation because of sickness or ill-health.
4. To institute a contributory portable pension programme, to ensure that our citizens will retire with a realistic pension of approximately two-thirds of their regular working wage; with a $10.00 increase immediately after election.
5. To implement legislation on the Federal level — in co-operation with the Provinces — that will guarantee equality of educational opportunities to the university level for all Canadians, regardless of economic ability.

YOUR CANDIDATE

Norm Cafik, Liberal Candidate for Ontario Riding, believes that Canadians must be realistic. He says:

"We must be realistic. We must be responsible. Our programme for Canadians can be put into effect when the economy of this nation has been expanded adequately to support such policies. OUR FIRST GOAL IS TO MAKE AN INVESTMENT IN CANADA AND ITS FUTURE. We must produce more revenues on the national level. I am convinced that the Liberal Party will fill Canada's greatest need — STABILITY OF GOVERNMENT."

The 34 year old businessman from Pickering township himself portrays the kind of capable man needed in Ottawa today. His gifts in leadership and in organization are well-known. A change is desperately needed in Ottawa — and in this Riding. This time . . .
