Education Minister Outlines School Program For Ontario 1963-1964

More than 90 per cent of Ontario's Grade 9 classes will follow the Province's reorganized three-stream program, arts and science, business and commerce, and science, technology and trades, in the 1963-64 school year, Education Minister William Davis forecast today.

The reorganized program, introduced into Grade 9 last September, was adopted by more than 85 per cent of Ontario's secondary schools at the beginning of the 1962-63 school year. The remainder continued

Grade 9 on the former plan, but Mr. Davis said nearly all of these schools will adopt the reorganized plan in some measure in the 1963-64 school year at the Grade 10 level.

Pupils entering Grades 11, 12 and 13 in the current year will continue their secondary education in the former program, he said.

In a review of educational activities, Mr. Davis also forecast that the enrolment increase in Ontario schools in 1963-64 will be less than in previous years.

He noted that in September, 1962, there were 1,528,607 pupils enrolled in the elementary and secondary schools of the province, an increase of 33,976 at the elementary level, and an increase of 32,401 on the secondary level over the same month in 1961.

"While substantial increases in the enrolments for both elementary and secondary schools are again expected in September, 1963, the amount of increase in either case will probably be less than in previous years," he said.

Mr. Davis said new construction of elementary and secondary schools appears to be catching up with the expanding need for pupil accommodation, and he anticipated that gross capital expenditures for schools will decline in 1964, continuing at a somewhat lower level for the next two or three years.

He observed that in 1962, the expenditure for elementary-school construction was approximately $50,000,000, providing places for 58,500 public and separate school pupils. In 1962 as a result of Federal-Provincial cooperation in providing new vocational technical areas, the expenditure rose to a total of approximately $82,000,000, providing places for 36,730 secondary school pupils.

Turning to the Institute of Trades program for the training of the unemployed, Mr. Davis said approximately 12,000 men and women so far have found suitable employment as a result of their newly-acquired skills.

He said instruction is now being given to some 6,500 trainees in 40 skill courses in 36 centres. "This expanded program represents an increase of 100 per cent in one year," he said.

Beginning in June, 1964, a change will be introduced to facilitate application by secondary school students for Ontario Scholarships, Mr. Davis said.

These scholarships are granted to graduates of Grade 13 who obtain at least 640 marks on eight Grade 13 Departmental papers, including English. Until this year, these awards have been limited to persons who wrote all of their papers in one year.

As of next June, one or two papers, written in a previous year by the applicant while in Grade 11 or 12, may be counted for scholarship purposes, Mr. Davis said.

In 1962, 699 persons qualified as Ontario Scholars, this year the total runs to over 1,000. A $400 award is paid except in cases where other large awards are also being received.

Mr. Davis said the Department's community programs branch will offer senior students and university graduates, two new courses, beginning this month, to meet the increased demand and rising standards for recreation personnel.

To be conducted at the Federated Colleges Guelph, they are: a two year diploma course in recreation for students who have Grade 12 standing and who wish to work as program supervisors or recreation facility managers, a one-year certificate course in recreation for university graduates who wish to work as recreation directors.

Noting that the Legislature provided $2,474,000 this year for distribution to public libraries in the province, representing a 10 per cent increase over 1962, Mr. Davis noted that the latest figures for circulation of books show a record of more than 33,000,000.

In 1963, school grants in Ontario will amount to approximately $203,000,000 with an additional payment of $30,300,000 under the Residential and farm school tax assistance Grants Act. Also, Ontario Universities

"We needed it now, the bank said yes, so..."

Many a household purchase like this starts with a bank loan. People find that the simple, natural thing to do is to borrow where they save—at the local bank. In fact the chartered banks are the largest single source of consumer credit loans, both in number and value.

Through the years the chartered banks have made it increasingly easy for people to borrow, at reasonable rates, for almost any worthwhile purpose: the purchase of a car...a new home heating system...a son's or daughter's education...a family vacation...

Three out of four bank loans are to individuals for their personal credit needs. And the total amount of such loans has almost doubled in the past five years...further evidence of the way bank customers are relying more and more on their local branches for borrowing as well as for all other financial services.
