Claremont Baptist Church Hold Missionary Fair

(Miss V. Forsyth)

Dr. and Mrs. Hillier introduced Claremont to its first missionary fair during the week end of May 1, 2 and 3. Dr. Hillier served in Bolivia and upon return to Canada became General Secretary of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Missions and while serving in this capacity visited other overseas mission fields in India and Angola. So with their knowledge and zeal they were able to give all those who attended the fair an experience which emulated any missionary efforts heretofore attempted.

The front of the church was beautifully decorated with five flags. The flag of the Christian Church held the central position of eminence and was flanked by the Red Ensign and the flags of India, Bolivia and Angola. If you attended the Friday and Saturday evening sessions you saw the native costumes, male and female of India and Bolivia worn by the ushers.

We were privileged to hear four speakers, all missionaries home on furlough.

Rev. Percy Allaby spoke on "The Gospel Among the Savras of India." The Savras are a dark skinned poverty-stricken tribe living in North Eastern India bordering on the Bay of Bengal. Rev. Allaby has performed the very arduous task of translating the New Testament into the Saora language with the help of some of the better educated natives. Mr. and Mrs. Allaby had a part in the production of the colour sound film which followed his message, "Out of Darkness" depicted the hard lot of the people and the persecution endured by those who embrace Christianity. The non-Christians are ignorant, suspicious and superstitious and very cruel to their fellow tribesmen when they become Christian.

On Sunday morning the choir rendered two numbers, a Telugu hymn and a Bolivian hymn. Dr. Walter Johnson from Quimpondo, Angola was the guest speaker at Sunday School and morning worship. His message to the children "Africa for Christ" was accompanied by a sound colour film. Another film on Angola, "Hill Sing No Cry" shown Saturday afternoon was heart-rending. To view the hardships endured by these black peoples brought tears to the eyes. "Turbulent Africa" was Dr. Johnson's subject at the 11 o'clock service. In 1961 Dr. and Mrs. Johnson went to Angola to take charge of an 80-bed hospital after Dr. Johnson's junior internship. He was forced to attempt many operations he'd never before seen and in some cases the patient did not recover and many times his prayer was a despairing cry of "God, Why has Thou forsaken me?" But Dr. Johnson had many rewarding experiences when he was able to bring relief in healing. The training of nurses (especially the women) proved to be a problem for these girls so illiterate that they first had to be taught to count before they could take a pulse. Men, given nursing training were less of a problem for some had been given a little schooling. Previous to 1961 only 3% of the children attended school. Used Christmas cards are used in the hospital for baby charts since the mothers are enthralled by the pretty pictures and thus enticed to bring their children to the clinic. But could be done for the little nursemaid in the Johnson home who was 18 years of age but was only a 6 year old in stature? Nothing could be done for her physical condition but she was sent to school and proved to be a good student. Because of the political unrest in the country the mission board thought it best to recall all the missionaries and by January of this year all had vacated. Eleven of these Angola missionaries are now serving the refugees in the Congo Republic.

We were privileged to have two outstanding speakers from Bolivia. On Saturday night Rev. Fred Habermehl's subject was "The Gospel in Bolivia" followed by another colour sound film "Dawn Upon the Hill." Rev. Habermehl has had just one five year term in Bolivia but has served in two capacities, first as pastor of the Oruro and then as a teacher in a theological seminary there are 57 Baptist Churches in Bolivia served by 45 National pastors. Medical clinics are situated in Oruro, Cochabamba and La Paz. Illiteracy among the Indian populations has now been reduced to 70% and students may now get Grade II standing in Santiago de Chiquitos Baptist Boarding School. Rev. Habermehl spoke about the Ayra Indians, the poorest class in Bolivia. They are the farming people and the lowest in the social scale but they are now being given a chance to attend school and they are proving themselves to have as good a capacity for learning as the upper classes.

The Sunday evening speaker was Rev. Hazen Parent, program director of the Southern Cross Radio Station. In his message he said a missionary needs the frontier spirit. Geographically, the frontier is being pushed back in Bolivia—new missions are opening up. As time changes methods change. Today there is more challenge for the missionary because of competition. Even Indians, who have less than enough food to satisfy their hunger, somehow find money to buy transistor radios. Others besides missionaries are entering the fields of medicine, agriculture, and education. The peace corps is supplying their needs as Bolivians. These leaders are often not Christians so like Joshua we Christians must "arise and go." The Sunday School room was filled with exhibits and curios

Suggest New Twp. Office Building Could Cost $250,000

Although a new municipal building to serve the Twp. of Pickering is still in the pre-planning stage, a figure of $250,000 has been mentioned as an estimated cost. If the project goes ahead, the structure will be erected to qualify for the Federal Government Centennial Loan Grant.

Three firms of architects attended a regular meeting of Council at Brougham on Monday night and displayed sketches of other buildings they had completed in the Province.

The proposed site of the new offices, if and when it is started was not mentioned by the members although it is presently assumed that it would be located in the more urban regions of the municipality.

FORMER CLAREMONT LAD SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL

Two former Claremont brothers were back in court last week, charged with breaches of probation. Richard Smith, 17 and Charles Smith, 16 appeared before Magistrate Harry Jermy.

About one month ago, Charles Smith was remanded to the House of Concord operated by the Salvation Army. This time, however, he didn't fare so well. He was sentenced to 18 months in a reform institution.

"You are a contemptible man," charged Magistrate Jermy, "your friends tried to help you but you refused to respond." "You have a cowardly attitude toward living," he concluded. He had been convicted of five charges of break, entry and theft in 1963 in addition to theft of milk-money in Whitby last month.

Richard Smith had been allowed to live with a family in Pickering Twp. but the facts of the probation offense were not outlined. "You are here more through misadventure than design," he said. He had previously been convicted of break, entry and theft in 1963 and vagrancy in March, '64. He was remanded to the House of Concord.

Trailer Residence Not Permitted

Pickering Twp. Bylaw Enforcement Officer, Harry Ashton informed members of Council on Monday night that trailer residents are not permitted in the municipality under any condition.

He replied to a complaint from the Plant Manager of the Dominion Mushroom Co., conc. 5, Pickering who said that he had been ordered to remove two trailers from the property within a period of nine days. He considered that the deadline was working a hardship on the firm.

Mr. Ashton said that in most cases of bylaw enforcement he allows 10 to 14 days for a party to comply. He said that the trailers on the Mushroom Farm had been there about six weeks.

Mr. Ashton said that another trailer case had been brought to his attention in the township where the occupants were sending a child to school. It is located in Hibbert's Park.

Editor's Mail

Greenwood, Ont., May 1, 1964.

Why do teenagers like the Beatles? This question has been asked by 99% of the parents throughout North America. Let me begin by introducing The Beatles, although I hardly feel it is necessary—Paul McCartney, John Lennon, George Harrison and finally, Ringo Starr whose real name is Richard Starkey. You have to be a real square or a plain drag, not to fall in love with The Beatles at first sight.

In all of North America, there are few girls who do not know (a) How old each Beatle is, (b) Each fact that makes them popular, (c) Their likes and dislikes, (d) Their feelings about girls and politics, (e) Their family background and (f) they are the most popular and most talked about group of pop singers in North America and Europe.

Now, I am ready to tackle the question on the tip of most tongues. First of all, I will tell you the so-called vitals that every teenage girl looks for in a group of pop singers. (a) They must be good looking (very necessary), (b) they must be good singers, but not necessarily from a parent's point of view, (c) they must make you feel happy and very excited, (d) they must have something that makes them stand out over other pop singers—their haircuts, (e) they must have a good sense of humour. The Beatles have all this and more which would take me all night to put down on paper.

Whenever a certain group makes it, it is because of "hard" instinct. One or two people really like them and then it builds up to a point that, if you don't like them, you are a "square." Don't misunderstand us, we really like The Beatles. I would even go so far as to say that we LOVE them with a capital "L".

I fail to realize why parents don't like them. However, there are some exceptions. It doesn't matter whether you are six or sixty, you are still susceptible to "Beatlemania."

People are making themselves rich on The Beatles so why complain? The manufacturers of Beatle articles are literally rolling in wealth. The bubble gum idea is really working and now the third series is on the market. The gum is horrible, but who cares, it is the pictures that we want.

I have been told that Beatlemania is a disease. If so, I and many more like me want to die from it. I hope that I have made my point clear. The Beatles are normal human beings and

The members of the Ontario County Pasture Committee met recently in the Department of Agriculture Office, Uxbridge, for the purpose of re-organizing a Pasture Project for 1964, and revising the rules and regulations. The pasture competition in Ontario County, and on a Provincial basis, will not be carried on this year.

It is open to any farmer in Ontario County, and all fields pastured will be taken into consideration.

Each farmer taking part in this Pasture Project will be asked to keep a monthly record of the milk produced, the pasture fields used, and the amount of hay and grain mixture fed.

The committee in charge of the 1964 Pasture Project is as follows: Chairman, Cliff Redman, Port Perry RR 3; Lloyd Smith, Port Perry RR 2; Heber Down, Brooklin; Clarence Werry Oshawa; George Paisley, Uxbridge, RR 2.

"I can't," observed the other, "this is my home."

Too Many Children, Cancel Greenwood Trout Derby

The annual trout-fishing derby day held for the past several years at the site of the Greenwood Conservation Area, has been cancelled this season. The reason? — Too many children.

School boys and girls, mainly from the Metro Toronto district arrived in such numbers that facilities just couldn't cope with the throng. Last year, it surpassed the 650 mark.

Where there are young children, there must be supervision and this too presented an arduous task. Even with the aid of the local Rod and Gun Club, the program could not be controlled.

The stream that passes through the park property has been restocked with both brown and speckled trout.
