THE CHIROPRACTIC VIEWPOINT

Occupational Hazards

Each occupation places a certain stress on the person employed. The mailman, by carrying his mail bag over one shoulder, places his spinal column under stress. The same is true, but in a different manner in every occupation where a certain definite routine is followed or a particular position is maintained for certain periods of time.

Take the case of the typist who sits for a considerable time with her head turned and the constant vibration from her typing producing tension in her neck. It will become curved by the constant muscle tension. Stiff neck, headaches, and other complaints will be produced.

The stresses from occupations can produce defects in the spine which may in turn give rise to disturbed function of the various organs.

The chiropractor, by examination of the spinal column, which may include the use of x-rays, determines the spinal problem. Correction may then be performed by means of adjustments which return the spinal segments to their normal position.

Accused Claims Registered Mail Not Delivered

Ronald Femson of Milliken, the President of Stouffville Homes Ltd. had his case dismissed in Magistrate's Court, Richmond Hill on Tuesday when an official of the R.C.M.P. could not swear that a piece of registered mail had ever been delivered.

Mr. Femson charged with failure to file an income tax return for 1963 said he never received a registered letter that called for such action. He told the court that the tax return had now been sent in.

Magistrate Hollinrake stated that he was willing to give the accused the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charge.

TON-A-MINUTE forage box... and the blower stays ahead!

A big capacity team! That's the Gehl Self-Unloading Forage Box and Hi-Throw Blower. A rugged team, too. Built to fill the biggest silo with no unloading slowdowns — even when you're handling haylage.

Choose your box size: Big 7-ft. inside width or standard 6-ft., 3-in. size. Sides are 2-, 4-, or 6-ft. high plus a 2-ft. screened extension. Standard length: 16-ft. (or available longer or shorter). A size for every need. Ruggedness for years of tough job hauling and ton-a-minute self-unloading Gehl Boxes are built to take it!

The Gehl Hi-Throw Blower more than matches capacity with the Gehl Forage Box. Fills even a big 90-ft. silo without breathing hard. No step-up drive, no smaller blower pipe needed.

The Hi-Throw makes efficient use of all the air power it produces to blast the crop high.
