Send Greetings
From Ilorin, Nigeria

From Ilorin, Nigeria, in Africa, we send you our sincere and warmest greetings to our friends and loved ones in the homeland. May each one of you have joy and happiness as we celebrate together the birthday of our Saviour.

Nigeria, the most populous country in Africa, with over 50 million people, covers an area of 356,699 square miles. It is 650 miles at its greatest depth from the coast to the northern border and 700 miles at its widest point. There are about 250 different ethnic and linguistic groupings. Non-Nigerians, including Britons, Lebanese, Indians, Syrians, French, Americans, Canadians and others, number about 27,000 people.

Liberty Press consists of an 18x36 building with equipment including a special typewriter for set-up work, darkroom camera, Multilith press, paper cutter, etc. It is small in size, but what is printed at Liberty Press is powerful because it's the Word of God. "Is not my Word like a fire?" saith the Lord, and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces." Jer. 23:29. Of the 250 languages only a few have been touched by the UMS press. "Four Things God Wants You to Know" included five languages in the one booklet. These have sold well and already a reprint is needed. "African Prince," in Yoruba, is the most recent publication with 3,000 48-page copies of this booklet. We are grateful to others of the UMS who do the translations, help in typing and for their work in distribution. The Press also supplies the needs of Light of Life, consisting of courses, certificates, forms and various pamphlets. We enjoy this task that is ours, and ask that you continue to pray that God's Word, through the printed page will continue to prove effective in Nigeria.

Abigail Olufunké Adebimpe is a native of Igbeti, 36 miles from here. During our few months at the above place we employed her to attend our two little girls who, needless to say, needed someone to keep them from getting into too much mischief. When we moved to Ilorin, Sharon and Debbie had come to like her so well that we brought her along too. They often give her a rough time and it amazes us how well she maintains her pleasant disposition. Sharon will commence school in July.

For all you have done for us, praying and giving we appreciate very much, and say thank you. Your cards and letters are an encouragement to us.

Yours in Christ,
Ray and Marie Hawkins.

Humane Society Has Gift Dogs Available

For those who wish to bring joy to some child with the gift of a dog the opportunity was never better, according to Fred Gardiner, of the North York Humane Society.

The pound which Mr. Gardiner operates for the Humane Society at Aurora is literally loaded with dogs at the present time, representing several well known breeds as well as a few crossbred animals. In the matter of age, dogs are available from pups only six days old to those who celebrated their fifth birthday any time during the past three years.

"Butch" is a brown Labrador whose size belies his gentleness. Certainly not to be classed as a lap dog but could be an excellent outdoors companion for children. "Rex" is a big German Shepherd and others of his nationality are in nearby kennels. All would appear to have the making of a good watchdog and pet for the family.

A crossbred German Shepherd-Hound arrived last Saturday with a family of six pups only one day old. She had been a pet of a young couple for about 15 months but the sudden advent of a family was too much for the owners so York Humane Society suddenly found this family at the door seeking lodgings.

Three Collie pups, about six weeks old, a Beagle and black and tan Collie with gentle eyes and an obvious desire to be given a good home, two German Shepherd-Collie pups, a grown dog of the same breeds and 8 cats of varying colors, age and breeds are also available.

In case someone might have an overwhelming desire to own a goat, there is a nanny goat of considerable size who makes friends with anyone, especially her and make a fuss of her if a person is prepared to feed Gregarious by nature she could easily become the pet of the neighbourhood providing local bylaws did not restrict the keeping of a goat.

Garden tools that are now in storage can be protected from rusting by giving their metal parts a coat of lubricating oil.

Avoid overwatering house plants. Allow the surface of the soil to become dry before adding more water. Sub-irrigation is best.
