Hockey Paves the Way

(Gary Grundy)
From the tiny tykes scarcely out of babyhood to the young aspirants in their teens, hockey spells fun, vigorous activity, joy and satisfaction through achievement, both for team and self.

Hockey has other results, some of which are difficult to bear, yet are necessary to endure. Boys must learn to accept the sting of defeat, the pain of injured pride and tough physical knocks.

Although it is true that hockey is a game, a sport, it is much more. It is a tool or a means to an end. If applied properly by able, willing and sincere leaders, this tool can help to "pave the way" for a boy's future on the difficult road of life.

Hockey is at times criticized either orally or in print for its shortcomings. Either the game itself or the personnel responsible for its operation are accused. Some intimate that it's a sadistic brutal sport. Others point out that sport and sportsmanship are not always related in hockey. To win is first and foremost at any expense. These accusations or similar ones are made from time to time. But what validity do they have? The answer, I believe is relative. It depends upon the leadership given to these boys.

"Boys will be boys." This old saying applies to hockey. Psychologists will tell you that for one to be bad or evil is natural but to be good, one must be taught.

Stouffville Minor Hockey Organization is blessed with men, as leaders, who are attempting to follow and instill in the boys many ideals.

The following is a list of many of the aims of minor hockey.

1. Promote good sportsmanship (sense of fair play).
2. Teach good citizenship standards.
3. To keep boys out of trouble, that is, "to keep them out of hot water by putting them on ice."
4. To assist boy's social development through team play, that is, learning to work, play, and co-operate with others.
5. To develop the body.
6. To promote discipline by obeying rules on and off the ice.
7. To learn to listen and accept criticism.

8. To develop alertness.
9. To develop co-ordination.
10. To have fun and to entertain others.
11. To produce fine hockey players.

None of this hockey is possible without the support of you, the parents. Buy a ticket from one of the boys when he approaches you. Then come out to the rink January 23-30 for some fine entertainment and worthwhile lucky prizes.
