Wolf Tracked By Helicopter After Attack On Cattle

A large wolf made good his escape in Markham Twp. on pursued by search parties from both ground and air.

The hunt was organized by Game Warden, Wayne Denby and Markham police after heli- Break-in Arrest copter pilot, Ben Arnold o Willowdale spotted the animal attacking a herd of cattle on a farm near 17th Ave., and Don Mills Rd. He landed his craft at Romandale Farms and called the police office at Buttonville.

Sgt. Don Dukes, armed with a .20 gauge shotgun caught a glimpse of the wolf from the air and rolled it over in the snow with a single blast from about 300 feet. Although wounded, the animal scrambled to its feet and escaped.

A posse of nearly a dozen men tracked the wolf more than two miles. It was bleeding badly and will not likely survive.

Game Warden Denby discounted the report that the wolf might be rabid. He said that it had attacked the cattle because of hunger.
