Girl Guides Of Canada

1st Gormley Guide And Brownie Thinking Day Ceremony

Guides and Brownies standing alternately, formed a large horseshoe. Inside, toward the base of it, stood a large elevated world globe with white, red, green, blue and yellow ribbons extending fan-shape to 5 white candles in silver dishes in the centre of the Horseshoe, and representing the 5 continents. Forming another smaller horseshoe around the other side of the globe stood small, gold wooden stands. Closer to the open end was the Brownie Toadstool, atop which was a light, snowy-white candle. This was the Friendship candle with the World Flag emblem. Under the Toadstool sat the brown owl keeping guard over the large gold trefoil money-box. To the right of all this were pictures of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, before which was a yellow candle. Next, were pictures of our International Guide, homes, and a green candle. To the left of the Toadstool were the Guide Promise with a turquoise candle and the Guide Laws with a red candle.

At the opening of the Horseshoe stood the leaders, and directly behind them was the World Flag guarded by three life-size dolls dressed, two as Guides and one as a Brownie. The stage was set.

Captain began the script: "The strength of our Nation lies in its youth." This was said by Lord Baden-Powell many years ago and was used as a cornerstone in his Scouting for boys. From this beginning sprang Guiding in 1909 and it has spread throughout the world.

Division Commissioner: "We are celebrating today the joint birthdays of our Founder, Lord Baden-Powell and of our World Chief Guide, Lady Baden-Powell. This day is better known to Guides and Brownies the world over, as Thinking Day. I light this candle in memory of the Founders (lights yellow candle). One of his great wishes was that Guides and Scouts working together everywhere, might help build a lasting peace in the world."

District Commissioner: "Guiding spread across the ocean and soon there were Guides from one end of Canada to the other. I light this (red) candle for all the Rangers, Guides, Brownies, L.A. members, and many others of our Guide family, in Canada."

Lieutenant: "Now, there are Guides on every continent in the world, and we have four International Homes: Olave House in London, England; Our Chalet in Switzerland, Our Cabana in Mexico, and last, but not least, Sangam in India. I light this (green) candle for all the kind and generous people who have helped Guiding on its way over the past fifty years."

Captain: "Thinking Day is the day we take to remember Guides all over the world; differing in details of uniform and programme, but united in our Promise and Law. I light this (turquoise) candle to keep that Promise and Law shining brightly throughout the world." Company Leader: "To link us all together, the World Association was formed and a symbol of this is the World Flag. Now, we take this time to remember all our sister Guides throughout the world." (Here the names of all the member countries were called out one at a time and a Brownie or Guide came forward and placed a small doll, dressed in the uniform of that country, and the country's flag, on one of the gold stands around the world-globe).

White Owl: "As Guiding grew, so our younger sisters wanted to join and thus the Brownies were born. Now, Brownies love to remember birthdays and birthdays are days of lights and candles, so (Here Brownies come forward and light the candles at the ends of the coloured ribbons). Jean Runney lit the candle at the red ribbon for all the Guides and Brownies on the continent of Europe; Wendy Hart, green, for Africa; Patty Rice, white, North and South America; Debbie Watson—blue, Asia; Kathy Thornton, yellow, Australia. Then the Brownie Pack Leader (taking Brown Owl's place) read the Brownie Thinking Day greeting.

Captain: "As girls grew too old for Guides, the Rangers were formed—Land, Sea and Air (Here the Rangers stepped forward to show the uniforms). It was soon found that Guiding had something to offer the blind and handicapped girl; so, we now have Extension Guides for them. Girls in isolated places were not forgotten and were soon enrolled as Lone or Post Guides. Guiding offers a programme of fun and training, based on democracy and aimed at making good citizens. It helps us feel one with other Guides from all over the world."

During the last war, Canadian Guides helped their sister Guides in other lands through the Empire Guide Gift Fund, which was later changed to the "World Friendship Fund." This fund helps Guiding anywhere in the world; and so we light this candle (candle atop the Toadstool). As this candle burns brightly we hope to keep Guiding burning brightly throughout the world. Now our Guides and Brownies will take a walk around our world and place their pennies in the gold trefoil for the Friendship Fund. Anyone who wishes may donate to this fund to help Guiding the world over."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Division Commissioner, Mrs. P. Runney presented to Mrs. C. Hornby the warrant of Lieutenant, 1st Gormley Guide Company. Then followed a short, candle-lit campfire session, Guide and Brownie Taps, and dismissal by Mrs. Runney.

CEDAR GROVE NEWS

While the Russians orbit acrobatic "Cosmonauts" and the Americans send orbit changing "Astronauts" into space, some pretty wonderful things are happening to some of our earth bound people.

Yvonne Houser won the $1,000 Baxter Purchase Award at the Ontario Society of Artists 93rd annual exhibition. This is a splendid accomplishment since her painting was chosen from 77 entries and will hang in the Toronto Art Gallery. Title of the painting is Spring Stirs the Earth and must surely have been inspired during her years in Cedar Grove.

But Cedar Grove can take another bow this week. Jo Pirdiramo won honourable mention for Best Actor in the preliminaries of the Simpson Drama Festival on Friday night. Markham HS was competing against West Hill and St. Michael's-St. Joseph's productions. It is interesting that the play chosen was Endgame by Samuel Beckett and is one of the Theatre of the Absurd school. It was chosen and directed by Frank Liebeck, a grade 13 student at MDHS, and has only four players. It is a fascinating, horrible, absorbing and difficult play, a satire on our world situation. It is to be hoped that it will be on view in the high school so we can see what these talented young people have done.

Mr. and Mrs. Dare Sr. not only attended the St. Patrick's Party at St. Patrick's Church last week and not only were they the life of the party but they also came home with the prizes.

The Euchre series came to a close last Monday with Margaret Coathup and Allan Jefferson taking home the series prizes. Night winners were: Vera Taylor, Mrs. Ed. Williams, Mrs. Mildred Wilby; Allan Jefferson, Henry Ogden and Levi Coathup.

Bethesda News

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Ernest Steckley visited her son Rescor in Humber Memorial Hospital where he is having treatment for injuries received when struck by a car recently.

Sunday evening supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wideman were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heatwole and son.

Last week Mr. William Empringham entered the Orthopaedic and Arthritic Hospital, 43 Wellesley St. E. where he has undergone bone surgery. His room number is 408.

Miss Hazel Atkinson of Stayner visited a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Empringham.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt and boys were Saturday evening dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. Ron Elliot and family of Gormley.

One of the newer residents of Bethesda is the family of John and Irene Gordon with their 2 very attractive daughters, Diane, 17 years and Donna 13 years of age.

The Gordon's acquired land on the Bethesda side road off the 5th concession. They have established a new home and stables to accommodate 8 horses. The stable was built from a plan provided by the Dept. of Animal Husbandry with a view to providing the best in comfort for the horses.

The family believe in that old adage: "A family will stay together that plays together." This the Gordon family do to the fullest. The Gordon family hobby is the care and training of and love of animals. They have acquired two horses, three dogs and two cats. The riders of the family are the two daughters. Diane began to ride horses at the age of 12 and it has since become her full time interest.

This interest was aided by membership in the International Pony Club. Diane is now a fully qualified competitive Equestrian having participated in many Horse shows and rallies, with a total of 45 ribbons, including 4 ribbons at the Royal Winter Fair. Her steel grey mount a Thoroughbred Gelding named Nickles (Nicki) had an illustrious sire "Acara" who was at one time the Queen's Plate winner a few years ago.

Close behind in this interest is her 13 year old sister Donna who has also through membership in the Pony club acquired a keen interest in Horsemanship and is presently training a new member of the family Robin O Day "Bobby" a 5 year old registered hunter. The Gordons new home and stable will be known as the Di-Donna farm and will be a busy spot this summer as Dianne plans on giving riding instructions to aspiring riders, plus the boarding and training of horses.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Division Commissioner, Mrs. P. Runney presented to Mrs. C. Hornby the warrant of Lieutenant, 1st Gormley Guide Company. Then followed a short, candle-lit campfire session, Guide and Brownie Taps, and dismissal by Mrs. Runney.
