YORK COUNTY 4-H CLUB PROGRAMS START THIS MONTH

(M. R. Bolton, Association Agricultural Representative for York County, Newmarket, N.Y., is the 4-H leader for 1965.)

The 1965 4-H programme for agricultural clubs starts in York County during Easter holidays.

The age limits are 12 to 21 as of December 31, 1965. Anyone in this age group is invited to join one of the 4-H Clubs listed below.

Organization meetings: Tuesday, April 20, 2:30 p.m. Victoria Square Community Hall; Markham 4-H Dairy Calf Club; Markham 4-H Corn Club; York 4-H Beef Calf Club.

Tuesday, April 20, 8:00 p.m. Ontario Department of Agriculture, Newmarket; Sharon 4-H Calf Club, 4-H Corn Club.

Wednesday, April 21, 2:30 p.m. C.O.C.B.A. Board Room, Maple; Woodbridge 4-H Calf Club.

Wednesday, April 21, 8:00 p.m. Snowball School; King 4-H Calf Club.

Thursday, April 22, 2:00 p.m. Sutton High School; Sutton 4-H Calf Club.

Thursday, April 22, 8:00 p.m. Experimental Station; Bradford Vegetable Club.

Friday, April 23, 2:00 p.m. Schomberg Community Hall; Schomberg 4-H Tractor Club.

Senior 4-H Programme:

In the past, many 4-H members dropped out after two or three years of 4-H work. We think the reason may have been lack of variety and challenge in the regular 4-H programme. A special senior programme has been developed for 1965 which will be available to all 4-H members 15 years and over. Included in the programme are two special meetings, plus a senior project. This senior programme will be in addition to the regular club project. It is our hope that the senior programme will make 4-H more valuable and interesting to members over 15 years.

There are local 4-H Club Leaders in each area who can answer your questions on 4-H activities or you may contact the Ontario Department of Agriculture in Newmarket.

Car Pool Drivers Could Be Sued For Passenger Injuries

If you're one of the many who own or drive a car in a car pool, you may be leaving yourself open to a hefty claim for damages by one of your passengers which your insurance won't cover.

In many cases some form of compensation is involved, and that's where the danger comes in. Standard automobile insurance policies do not cover drivers carrying passengers for "compensation or hire." One reason for this is that in Ontario, under the Highway Traffic Act, the owner or driver of a car is not liable for damage sustained by passengers unless the car is operated in the business of carrying passengers for compensation. Thus, if a car pool driver is sued by his passengers for injuries sustained while travelling in his car, his insurance policy and the Highway Traffic Act might not protect him. If he was receiving personally liable for any damages awarded in court.

Even drivers who merely take turns driving might find themselves in this situation if the court should hold that under the "pool agreement" the passengers were really being carried for compensation.

Lawyers agree that a man is foolish indeed to take money or some reciprocal advantage from a passenger without permission from his insurer under a special endorsement to his policy.

Without it, even the friendliest of car pools between neighbours or fellow employees could mean years of debt for the driver if he was sued following an accident—especially if the accident was a major one resulting in death or serious disablement. On the other side of the coin, the passenger might have to bear the entire burden of his own injuries if it was established that the driver was not carrying him for compensation, even though his injuries were entirely the result of the negligence of the driver.

The law is fairly clear on some aspects of liability but unsettled on others. For example, in Ontario it is clear that gratuitous passengers are in their own risk while on public roads. But a great many other factors enter the picture if an accident occurs on a private road and the driver might be liable even though there had been no payment of any kind.

Confusion about liability also occurs when there is payment in kind.

The driver is generally held responsible when passengers were receiving compensation and therefore liable for the safety of their passengers.

Whether or not a driver makes a profit doesn't appear to matter.

So if you use your car in a car pool, then you'd better discuss it with your insurance agent and make sure that your policy will protect you against claims from your passengers.

In case of an accident, it may be your cheapest insurance protection.
