By BON WALLACE

Maybe it's too early to tell, but from what we've seen the Ball Clubs are not making as big a hit with the spectators as first anticipated.

Looking around the field at any given game, one might observe about 50 viewers, taking a half-hearted interest in the proceedings. In the grandstand, people come and go, depending on how the game is turning out. It may be half full at the start of a ball game, but by the fifth or sixth inning, looks as though someone had pressed the 'air raid' siren.

Baseball in Stouffville is not professional, but it's good ball, and well worth watching. It's true there hasn't been an Intermediate club here for some years, but it's here now, and the fellows who are trying to keep it going, deserve the fan support. They are not a winning club yet, however, championship baseball is not something that happens overnight. Practice and perseverence, something this club has plenty of, will eventually produce a tip-top team.

The excuse of not 'wanting to waste time with a losing club' doesn't hold water where the Juniors are concerned. This club, judging from their opening games, will go all the way this zeason, and yet, they're doing it without the hometown support, True, there are the loyal supporters who see every game, but it's the same faces week after week. This is directed at those who spend Sunday afternoons, and Wednesday evenings in front of the television set.

It can't be the price that is keeping people away. After all, silver collection only ranges from a dime to a dollar. And, there is no obligation on anyone's part.

The lads that play on our teams are local boys, many who have lived here for years and years. They make up part of our community. They are promoting one of the few summer sports Stouffville has. They can't do it by themselves.

Perhaps when the girls start their schedule, the crowds will swell. Nevertheless, baseball is baseball, be it boys or girls, N.H.L. All-Stars and baseball needs spectators. In Stouffville, it needs them badly.

Being fair, we must admit that baseball is not the most exciting sport in Canada. Chess is more thrilling than some games AI KICHMOND HIII we've seen, but just the thought of the home town team competing against other centres should bring spectators out by the droves. team will have their work cut Ball can be dull and tiring; yet in the same breath, it is interesting, competitive and challenging. It requires, of the players, sharp reflexes, good control and undivided attentiveness. And players have a tendency to 'show off' if they know there's a good crowd supporting them. They'll do their best to please everyone, and they'll give them something worth coming back to see again. They won't always win, but they'll be in there trying.

Support baseball in Stouffville . . . it boosts the community

Still on the subject of baseball, we received a rather unusual note from the Markham "Aces." The club sent a message regarding the officiating of a recent game, and they PRAISED the umpires. The note said, in part, "adding to the colour of this fine ball game, we must give three cheers to the finest officiating we have seen this year. Loring Dolittle at the plate and Ross De-Geer on the bases added the little extra that comes from experience that must be had in a ball game of this kind . . ..

The umpires, who, in the eyes of most fans, don't know what they are doing, deserve a lot of credit for the efforts they put into a ball game.

Umpire-in-chief for the area is "Gabby" Lapointe from Newmarket. He is to be commended for the excellent umpires that have appeared in different communities. These men do their jobs as they see it, and it's always nice to hear favourable comments about their work, instead of that traditional 'kill the ump' jazz. Just standing behind the plate calling balls and strikes shows that these men are capable of making a decision and standing behind it. "Gabby" has done his fair share of the games in Stouff shot some 46 Toronto District ville and his presence alone makes the game worth seeing. POOL SHARKS: The first warm weekend since the pool opened brought swimmers out by the hundreds. Some 1,100 persons paid admission into the pool last Saturday and Sunday. And with temperatures stretching into the high 80's, why not?

However, it can't be hot like that all the time, and this year that difficulty has been overcome. The pool is heated. Manager, Andrew Williams, expressed his delight at the number of persons who have visited the pool during the early part of below-normal June. Normal temperature for the water is 72 degrees regardless of whether the thermometer says 50 or 80.

The pool is heated with natural gas and the temperature can be regulated very easily.

Besides the heated pool, Mr. Williams has come up with another idea to keep pool-goers amused. It's called "Water Jousting" and it's as easy as falling off a log.

Two plywood platforms, four feet square, have been secured to four foot diameter tractor tubes. Both platforms will be fastened together with a measure of rope to prevent them from drifting apart. The competitors, one on each platform, will be 'armed' with broom handles, bare at one end, and a plunger gracing the other. The plunger will be covered with cloth to prevent of course, is the one who remains upright on his raft, while his of course, is the one who remains upright on his raft, while his 9-0 Shufouf might be Maid Marion.

His performance was no enough, however, as Stouffville "I.G.A." bowed to Port Hope 54 in a real tight contest.

Don Haynes, always noted for his catching ability, turned pitcher on Wednesday and fired a creditable 7-hitter. He actually had a victory in the bag but an infield error and a lost ball in the lights set the stage for a Port Hope rally in the 6th. Four runs came in and the visitor's lead was too great to overcome.
