Mrs. C. Milsted

Danny Sandiford, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sandiford, has been travelling with the National Ballet of Canada in the United States. Vice Pres. Hubert H. Humphrey personally welcomed the 89 member ballet company to the American capital and exchanged national flags with two of its sub-teen members and received a message from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, an old friend. Danny was one of the sub-teen members who presented the Canadian flag to the vice president and in turn received from him an American flag that had flown over the capital. The Canadian ballet group appeared in Washington's Carter Barron Amphitheatre. Humphrey, who attended the opening performance, told the assembled dancers yesterday he has been hoping to see them at least once more.

Celia Frances, director of the ballet company read the message from Pearson, who sent the Canadian flag as a "token of the bonds of friendship, respect and collaboration that exist between our two countries."

This is a marvellous tour that Danny has enjoyed, one he will remember his whole life time. Danny arrived home on Monday.

Miss Annie Heise died very suddenly early Sunday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leadore Wideman. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from Heise Hill Church. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Girl Guides Of Canada

YORK EAST DIVISION:
(A. M. Armstrong)

Division Campfire:
The Guides and Guides of York East (Ballantyne, Gormley, Lamonville, Markham, Stouffville and Unionville) have been invited to a campfire to meet the British Guide who will be our guest for a few days at that time. It is to take place at Bruce's Mill Conservation Park on Monday, August 23, at 7 p.m. Camp or full uniform is to be worn. Arrangements are being made through the District Commissioners, Guiders and Patrol Leaders.

Camping:
28 Guides and four Guiders (plus 3 small children) were encamped at Central Area's Camp Adelaide in Hallburton from July 17-24, under the leadership of Mrs. W. Kingsley, Stouffville, the Div. Camp Adviser.

A Guides' Own service was conducted on Sunday, the second day of camp. The hospitality there was terrific! The swimming and waterfront testing was done by the Camp Waterfront staff - 13 Guides have completed all but one phase for the First Class (in this category), 6 received the Swimmers' Badge, 4 the Rescuers' Badge and 9 still have one part of the swimmers' to complete.

Other exciting events, camp skills, games, gadget-making, hiking and the like contributed to the "racing-away" of the time, and the week was over all too soon. More camping is certainly being planned and it will include many more of the Division Guiding family.

At the conclusion of the period, a small surplus was found to exist; and with this a contribution was arranged for the purchase of a "roaching pole" for the Waterfront at Camp Adelaide.

This experience is a dandy preliminary to the necessary requirements for the National Heritage Camp being held in July 1967. The recent issues of the Guide magazine have details of age, personal qualifications, plus badges (Camper, Citizen, Globe Trotter and World Knowledge) required of the 2000 girls eligible.

DID YOU KNOW? - that it was only in 1961 that the name of our organization was officially changed to: Girl Guides of Canada.

Guiders - Attention:
Keep in mind the middle of September, when the Sea Rangers Regatta is being held in Ottawa; it would be a splendid adventure to attend with senior Guides - Sept. 11 and 12.

Monday, Sept. 13 is a special meeting of all Guiders of the Division at Melville Church. Had you given any thought to taking the Maple Leaf Course? This writer participated in Part II, the camping section and found it fascinating - would be delighted to discuss with any who show even the slightest interest.

Many exciting activities are in store for us this year in Guiding; don't miss any of them - start by attending the Campfire next Monday evening.

FARM INCOME DOESN'T COVER FAMILY EXPENSES

The first detailed study of family farm income shows that seven out of 10 Canadian farms don't produce enough direct revenues to cover family expenses.

But it also reveals that, in a growing number of cases, the nation's marginal farmers are making enough money from non-farm sources to at least cover their bills.

These are the main conclusions from an unprecedented study made by two government economists, Dr. J. M. Fitzpatrick of the agriculture department and C. V. Parker of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, of farm income sources and patterns.

The study is based on a national sample of 8,077 of the single-family, single-farm holdings which make up more than 90 per cent of Canada's 400,000 old farms. The study used 1958 statistics, but Dr. Fitzpatrick said he is certain that, in at least their broad patterns, the findings are equally valid today.

"This is the first time in Canada we have had a real survey of farm incomes which took into account both farm and non-farm sources," Dr. Fitzpatrick said in an interview. "This study looks at the farm problem from the people's point of view where most previous surveys were based on figures relating to the land."

"I think our study shows that the farm picture isn't nearly as black as it is sometimes painted."

The study, released recently by the agriculture department, tends to confirm the generally held view that many Canadian farms, by themselves, are a loss - than - profitable venture.

But it brightens the overall picture considerably by revealing for the first time the extent to which occupants of these farms are able to raise income from other sources.
