4,000 Per Day Picked From Patch

STOUFFVILLE — If its outdoor exercise or strawberry bargains you're looking for, you'll get a share of both at the property of Hans Jensen Henneberg, one mile north of Stouffville in Whitchurch Township.

For the past two weeks, boxes of berries, as many as 4,000 quarts per day, have been sold on a 'pick 'em yourself' plan. The price is 25 cents per . quart.

Mr. Henneberg, a native of Denmark, moved from Downsview about 5 years ago, with his wife, Rita and children, Helen, 7 and Eric, 8. "The first couple of seasons, we almost lost our shirts," said the owner, "we didn't know the soil and the land was too heavy." Through applications of proper fertilizers, the plants flourished. Six " acres are now under strawberry cultivation and this will be raised to 91/2 acres next year.

HONEST FOLKS Mr. Henneberg feels that most folks are honest and are willing to pay for what they pick. His biggest problem is keeping the people out during off hours when the berries aren't ready. Some arrive as early as 6 a.m. Although the majority come from the Stouffville area, many have arrived from outside points such as Keswick, Sutton, Woodbridge and Richmond Hill. A sign at the entrance forbids children under 10 years to pick but Mr. Henneberg allows them in the field. "I remember when I was a boy and liked nothing better than to be out with my parents," he said, "after all, the children of today could be our customers to-morrow."

IRRIGATION SYSTEM A gas-powered irrigation system provides adequate water in all areas of the property, a real benefit this summer due to the dryness of the season. The supply comes from a pond at the Sleepy Hollow Golf Course. The picking program could end this week, depending on the weather. It has proved to be a two-fold benefit, both to the owner and the purchaser. Where else can one save $1 and lose 4 pounds in 4 hours?

Donna and Dale Reid are employed for the summer holiday months at the Bruce Mill Conservation Area.

Miss Sharon Bruce has accepted a position on the staff of Chesebrough-Pond's

Ltd., for the summer. Miss Lillian Reid is working during the holidays at the Stouffville 5c to $1 Store in Stouffville.

Miss Miriam Sider of Gormley is spending her summer vacation period employed at York Central Hospital at Richmond Hill.

Claims Cruiser More A Hazard Than Motorists

STOUFFVILLE - A Toronto, man, who claims he observes all the by-laws and rules and regulations, tried to convince Magistrate Russell Pearse that he wasn't speeding when he went through radar on the 9th Line, north. He had been clocked at 40 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone.

Ernest Stanton argued the case in detail. He questioned P.C. David Haddon on the officer's knowledge of the equipment, he accused the police of creating a bigger traffic hazard than speeders, and he doubted that the radar could be read properly because it was sitting on the seat of the cruias much or greater danger than I was, because he was parked on the side of a narrow, heavily-travelled twolane highway," said Stanton, "and I'm denying that I was travelling 40 miles per Stanton said he couldn't understand how anyone could properly read the radar unit that was 'thrown an awkward position.' P. C. Hadden, however, pointed out that the equipment is set on a bracket, and that the dials and gauges are tilted to eye level.

A fine of $10 plus costs was levied.
