Gormley Couple Wed 50 Years Four Week Honeymoon For $20

GORMLEY — How many honeymoon miles could a couple travel today on $20? With a little penny-pinching along the way, they might be able to spend a day and a night in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brillinger of Gormley can recall how, following their marriage on Dec. 27, 1916, they travelled by horse and cutter to Schomberg Junction, now Oak Ridges, took the trolley into Toronto and the train to Stevensville, near Welland. Altogether, they were away an entire month and it cost them less than $20. That was fifty years ago.

On the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary, held at Gormley, they welcomed more than 180 neighbours, friends and relatives, many coming from long distances. On the evening before, a gathering of fifty enjoyed supper at Summit View Gardens Restaurant, near Richmond Hill.

Both were born only two concessions apart, Mr. Brillinger at lot 6, conc. 4, and Mrs. Brillinger at lot 4, conc. 6. His parents were Peter A. Brillinger and Adeline Shaffer. He attended Lloyd School, Gormley R.R. 1. Mrs. Brillinger was the former Ida May Steckley, daughter of Joseph Steckley and Leah Heise. Their home is the present George Yake farm.

It was Bishop Alvin Winger's first marriage ceremony and no one really knows who was more nervous, the bride and groom or the pastor. The wedding was at 12 o'clock noon and 3½ hours later, the happy couple were aboard the Yonge Street trolley, heading into Toronto. On their return, they took up residence in Gormley and their is the only property in the immediate community that hasn't changed hands in the past half-century.

MET AT CHURCH
As young people, both attended church at Heise Hill and their marriage had, as its basis, a strong religious background. Both have been active in Sunday School work. Mrs. Brillinger as a class teacher and Mr. Brillinger as treasurer since 1938.

To the couple was born seven children, four daughters, Vera of Richmond Hill, Jean and Mildred at home, Velma, a missionary in Rhodesia, and three sons, Walter at home and Ross and Eldon of Gormley. They are extremely proud of their five grandchildren, Kenneth, Kevin, Michael, Laurie and Peter. Their framed photographs hold a prominent position in the Brillinger living room.

Mrs. Brillinger has five sisters, Mrs. Alvin Winger, Gormley, Mrs. Abram Lehman, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, Mrs. George Sheffer, Stayner, Mrs. Roy Wideman and Mrs. Peter Stickley, both of Unionville, R.R.1 and three brothers Clarence and Levi Steckley of Gormley and Walter Steckley of Barrie. One brother, Elmer is deceased.

LOVELY GIFTS
Mr. and Mrs. Brillinger were remembered with lovely gifts, dozens of cards and many beautiful bouquets of flowers including a colourful floral centrepiece from their daughter, Velma in Rhodesia. They were most pleased to have as visitors on the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Lehman of Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and Mr. Oliver Winger from Kindersley, Saskatchewan. The best man at the wedding, Mr. Clarence Steckley of Gormley was also present.

There was a two-fold reason for thanksgiving at the Brillinger home, Dec. 27. Twenty-five years ago, Mr. Brillinger was seriously injured in an auto accident in Toronto and spent two weeks in hospital. A planned Silver Anniversary had to be cancelled. "I'm better now than ever," he said. Mrs. Brillinger also enjoys good health. The Tribune joins with friends in wishing this fine Gormley couple many more years of health and happiness together.

Propose Expansion At Chesebrough-Pond's

A leading industry in Markham celebrates its tenth birthday in 1967. The Chesebrough-Pond's Company of Canada built its plant in 1957 when the company re-located. At that time the building was designed to be of sufficient size to allow for ten years normal business growth. However due to several acquisitions in the past ten years, space in the plant has become a problem, revealed G. E. Marshall, Manufacturing Manager for the company.

Mr. Marshall said that plans for expanding the plant's facilities are being formulated, but no specific date has been set for the launching of the plans.

"The staff is now twice as large as it was in 1957, and normal expansion of facilities and business will require an enlarged staff in the future," he predicted.

Expand County Services

WHITBY — Warden W. H. Gould, speaking at the closing session of Ontario County Council told council he anticipates further county-wide services will be inaugurated in the new year. He mentioned welfare, planning and development, education and libraries.

He added that he saw nothing wrong with the pre-

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baker Celebrate 50th Anniversary

BAKER HILL — "We've always been blessed with real good neighbors," commented Eugene Baker and his wife, Flora, nodded agreement.

Throughout the living room of their farm home, the signs of good neighbourliness were everywhere in the form of lovely cards and beautiful flowers.

It was just fifty years ago, Dec. 27, 1916 that Mr. and Mrs. Baker were married and to mark the occasion, an 'open house' gathering was held at the Baker Hill Baptist Church. More than 150 attended including the organist on their wedding day, Harriott Brodie, now Mrs. George Quantz of Aurora. Also present was Will Fockler of Bloomington who, at past 90, represents the kind of "good neighbor" that Mr. and Mrs. Baker hold in such high regard.

LARGE FAMILIES
Both Mr. and Mrs. Baker came from large families. Mr. Baker was one of eleven, the son of Seneca Baker and Esther Milliken who lived at the present Baker homestead. He attended school at Bloomington. Mrs. Baker, the former Flora Paisley, is the daughter of Wellington Paisley and Elizabeth Reesor. She too had ten brothers and sisters. She attended public school at Siloam in Uxbridge Township.

The wedding ceremony was conducted at her home by Rev. Van Norman of the Christian Congregational Church, Churchill. The couple then travelled by horse and cutter to Stouffville where they took the train on a honeymoon trip to Park Hill, north of London. With the exception of one year their entire married life has been spent at their present farm residence.

TWO CHILDREN
To the couple was born two children, a son, Claron at home and a daughter, Elaine (Mrs. Glenn Fisher) of Windsor. They have two grandchildren, John and Elizabeth.

Mr. Baker has two brothers, Oscar of Welland, Morgan of King City and one sister, Mrs. Harry Gilbert of Stouffville.

Mrs. Baker has six sisters, Blanche in New York; Nel (Mrs. Irwin Winch) of Keswick; Jessie (Mrs. Horace Pope) of Toronto; Ann (Mrs. Ed Way) of Tweed; Grace of Campbellford; Norma (Mrs. William Siebert) of Zurich and three brothers, Aylmer of Wor-chester, Massachusetts; Rev. Stanley Paisley of Nottawa and Murray of Newmarket. One sister, Marie, passed away in April, 1965.

The lovely anniversary cake that graced the reception table was brought all the way from Windsor by their daughter, Elaine.

No family name in Whitchurch Township is more highly respected or better known. The couples' close connection in the community was revealed by the many friends who called to extend their congratulations and best wishes at the anniversary gathering. The Tribune is pleased to extend its kindest regards and to wish Mr. and Mrs. Baker many more years of health and happiness together.

DEAR DORIS — 1. Is it proper to attend parties, weddings, etc., when you are in mourning?
2. How long do you have to wear black for a parent?
3. Is it proper to put up a Christmas tree and send cards after six months?

DEAR AVID — 1. Yes, with reason. Small dinner parties, concerts, the movies, are diversions which can lift the pall of a deep loss, and no one thinks the less of the mourner. If the loss is quite recent, the bereaved guest may attend a wedding ceremony but may wish to excuse herself from the reception. People will understand.
2. Mourning clothes are not the "must" they used to be. Such visible signs of grief don't help a person to come out of his or her slump; and we no longer think a long face contributes to virtue. So you don't wear mourning any longer than you want to; not at all, preferably.
3. Yes. The Card should be conservative rather than gay. It carries a message of good will and is a reassurance to your friends.

DEAR DORIS — My husband often used to come home tight and start an argument. Then one night he wanted to know whom I had had a date with over the phone two years ago. He said I had been doing things with the transport driver who comes to our store twice a week. I told him I never had anything to do with any other man since I was married.
Now he has brought all this up again; and he will hardly speak to me. He just sits and stares, but he is nice to everybody else. He says we can't live together any more, and I don't think I can keep on standing... anyway.
Is it r. or could there be something wrong with him?

Can't Go On
DEAR CANT — Since he drinks and is out a lot, I'm thinking his own misdeeds are needing him. So he tries to pin on you the crime he himself commits. It must annoy him that you are so long-suffering and steady.
If he could just persuade himself you were cheating on him; then he'd feel justified.
A professional person needs to get at the root of this. Start with his doctor.

DEAR DORIS — I am 14 and have not been told a thing about sex. My mother says she was never told anything so she doesn't see why she should tell me anything. My mother is also very mean to me and is always telling Daddy lies about things I do.
She won't let me go to a dance because she is afraid I will get into trouble. Daddy is very understanding about the whole thing and he is trying to help me, but I can't do anything.

If you print this in the paper I would be happy because my mother might read it and realize what she is doing.
DEAR ABUSED — What a neat piece of rationalizing that turned out to be! Your mother is merely kidding herself that she is keeping you out of trouble by keeping you ignorant.
The truth is, she is embarrassed to try to tell you about sex. Her own hush-hush training means she just can't find the words.
I'm sending you my book list on recommended reading on the subject. Try a heart-to-heart talk with your Dad, who may have some influence with her; and can certainly give you a feeling you are being understood.

Five Board Members Resign

BROUGHAM — Pickering Township Council has accepted the resignations of five members of various boards and committees.

Those who resigned their positions were W. H. Westney, Gerald Allman, Norman Lehman, Frank Edwards and Mrs. June Cheshire.

Mr. Westney, the township's member on the Conservation Authority for 12 years, felt it was time to give way to younger men. Mr. Westney is a former Reeve of Pickering Township and Warden of Ontario County.

Mr. Allman, one of three trustees of Claremont Police Village, said in a letter that personal reasons forced his resignation.

Mr. Lehman resigned from the Committee of Adjustment because he had sold his farm and moved to Stouffville.
Mr. Edwards was a member of the Township Plumbing Licensing Board and Mrs. Cheshire was on the West Rouge Community Parks Board.
