

Editorial Sweet As Sugar

BY DIETER SCHNELL, 12B
Several students have asked me to print something nice on the Youth Page, and since I have such a nice sweet outlook, I agreed.
The birds are singing. La-da-da-dee! People are beautiful. There is nothing wrong with the educational system, the games and pretensions of society. Centennial is by far the greatest single event, since the storming of the Bastille. Corruption never wins. Politicians are all true humanitarians. Prejudiced, and narrow minded people make the best citizens. People are innately compassionate, and unselfish. Utopias are the greatest ideals for us to follow. Goodness and Truth hide behind church gates. No one ever lies. Everyone has their eyes and ears wide open and is tuned in on the world. Advertising signs are honest and plausible. Weekly television shows are literate, beneficial and entertaining. There are no problems. Students of S.D.H.S. have shown remarkable interest in the Newspaper Staff and their contributions have been overwhelming. Stouffville is the cultural centre of the world. Optimism is truly exhilarating. Yes, everything is "groovy" sweet as sugar. La-da-da-dee; quite the best of all possible worlds, wouldn't you agree, Monsieur Voltaire?

Valerie Baker

'Straightest' Student

STOUFFVILLE — At least 260 students and guests made this year's S.D.H.S. Valentine's Dance, a success (despite the poor showing of senior students).
The Decoration Committee, headed by Alan Lee, deserve all the credit for not only making the dance colorful and effective but also making it an exercise in originality. The traditional Valentine theme was given a modern setting, with a Yorkville type effect achieved through setting up props representing coffee houses along with real trees. Abstract paintings, and assorted oddly shaped decorations hung from the walls. The HaPenny Coffeehouse was represented at the back by an artificial ceiling, tables and chairs.
The "Tripp" who can undoubtedly be musicians when they want to, did not show it at this dance. But at least they fitted in well with the "loud" decorations. Their costumes and instruments were very impressive.

Student Council Comments

BY DIETER SCHNELL 12B
The last Student Council meeting became one of the liveliest discussion periods of the year. Ted Topping suggested that since so much time was wasted trying to choose committees for functions that one committee be selected to take care of its respective jobs for the entire year. The Executive saw where this could be effective, but it defeats the purpose of having a Student's Council. If they picked 10 plus students for this, they would simply be adding 10 plus students to the 30 or so, who are now carrying the other 550 students. It is from this large mass of students that co-operation and interest must come. As well the students who would volunteer to take on the extra responsibility of being on a year long committee would be those students who are already involved in too much.
One finds that the greatest problem this Student's Council and every Student's Council has is making students feel that they are needed. Too often, students, especially in the lower grades feel that the Student's Council is some kind of status-flavoured social club for the bright and by not being on it, they have no voice in Student Council decisions. This is not true, S.D.H.S. has a student government. It has all the problems of a democracy. Its effectiveness relies just as much on the support of the student body as it does on the leadership of its members. Representatives are finding it increasingly difficult to get their rooms to respond to what's going on. The senior students are simply deplorable as they no longer care what goes on in S.D.H.S. or Stouffville for that matter. It would not affect their lives if the Student's Council ceased to exist. These same students do not realize that the Student's Council is not obligated (and the same can be said of the Yearbook Staff or the Newspaper Staff) to work all year for 550 apathetic students without expecting some help. Otherwise it can cancel an entire year's program. This is not as remote a thought as might seem.

Portrait Of A Teenager

STOUFFVILLE — Sixteen year old Janine Bass, Main Street East in Stouffville, is blonde, freckle-faced and full of fun. She's this week's pick in the current series 'Portrait of a Typical Teenager'. She's a student in Grade 11.
Janine is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Clarence T. Bass. Her father is the pastor of the Christian Congregational Church in Stouffville and a former Missionary in India for twenty years. She is a 'kid sister' to Carolyn, 24, a student at McGill University, Montreal; Donald, 23, a public school teacher in Kitchener; Kenneth, 22, a member of the Metropolitan Toronto Police Department and Clifford, 18, a student in Grade 12 at Stouffville District High School.

VERY UNDERSTANDING

Does being a minister's daughter have its drawbacks? Janine admits that she gets kidded around a lot by her friends but all in good fun. "When I was younger, it wasn't quite so easy, but I confided in my older sister and my mother. My brothers were always around to stick up for me too. We've always been quite close". Janine speaks with pride of her parents. "I understand them and they understand me. They have shown confidence in me and I would never let them down. Obeying them has paid off. I'm proud of them all and I want them to feel the same about me". She enjoys good movies, school dances and outdoor sports. She loves to swim and skate and last summer did a stint on the water skis. She hopes to work at a lodge during the vacation period. Following Easter examinations, she plans to attend a young people's 'retreat' at a camp near Bolton.

BORN IN INDIA

Janine was born in India and came to Stouffville with her parents at the age of six. Both this year and last, she has been a Class Representative and a member of the Junior Girls' basketball team. Like brother Don, she also plans to teach public school on graduation from Grade 13 and Teacher's College.
Janine has a boy friend whom she regards as 'pretty steady'. He is presently in Grade 13 and will enrol at the University of Guelph in the fall.
Yes, being the daughter of a resident minister and the youngest in a family of five could have presented its problems. But for this sparkling teenager, the benefits have been rewarding.

At Orchard Park, a Color Party, comprising Rosalyn Spence, Girl Guides; Jane Sanderson, C.G.I.T.; and John Hill of the Boy Scouts made an impressive setting, supported by the school choir under the direction of Miss Lynn Mills. They sang 'This Land Is Your Land' and 'Something To Sing About'. Instrumental accompaniment was provided by Bobby Duxbury, Bobby Topping, Bill Hassard, Milton Slaughter, Sharon Mercer and Jennie Bangay. Past Prom Queens

It has been agreed that the Teen Queens of former years should be issued with Lifetime Passes, President Randy Mole or any member of the Council would appreciate acquiring the addresses of these girls as soon as possible.
