

Mrs. Austin Reesor Respected Teacher

By PAT McLENNAN
 CEDAR GROVE — Although Olive Reesor was brought up in Cedar Grove and lived all her married life here, she did not belong solely to Cedar Grove. This was clearly evidenced when, over the weekend more than six hundred and fifty paid their last tribute to this most remarkable woman. Olive was a dedicated teacher much appreciated by pupils she had taught in Hillside and Oak Ridges before she was married and by pupils of the last few years nearer home. It was her policy whenever the children became listless to pep up the schoolroom with music and the songs were always lively. They loved her for it and for her clear, straightforward teaching. Many memories of this aspect of her life were exchanged at her funeral, one of the largest Markham has ever seen. MARKHAM—In addition to an inspirational message from Mr. Robert N. Thomson, music will play an important part in the inter-denominational religious service to be held in the Markham Arena on Wednesday, May 31. The Salvation Army Scarborough Citadel Band will be in attendance. This is an outstanding musical organization which carries on in the finest musical traditions of the Salvation Army. In addition, a combined choir of 150 voices made up of representatives from at least eight local churches, under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Clark, will perform a number of pieces including the "Centennial Hymn" by Healy Willan, a piece written especially for the Centennial by Mr. Willan, the noted Toronto composer and director. Arrangements have been made for the installation, for the service, of a $5,000 electronic organ. Mrs. Joyce Miles will be organist and in addition to the other music, the Salvation Army

Centennial Cook Book

By KATHLEEN MAY GOODWOOD.—The annual meeting of Goodwood Women's Institute was held April 21, with a good attendance. Mrs. Pickering and Mrs. Walker of Zephyr were guests to assist with the election of the new officers for the year. The ladies who made hats from the short course Hats For You—demonstrated their creations. It was decided to make a Centennial Cook Book. Donations of recipes will be appreciated.
