

Main Street Parade Most Colorful In Town's History

Centennial chairman Lorne Boardway, riding in a Model 'T' Ford, owned and driven by Ross Hetherington, Rupert Avenue, led a mile-long parade through Stouffville Saturday morning; that was viewed by hundreds along the route. —Staff Photo.

Stouffville's new drum and bugle corps, The Centurions, made their debut Saturday. They were greeted by continuous applause along the entire parade route. —Staff Photo.

Later, in the town park, the enthusiasm was the same. The band's performance exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic of citizens. The majorette is Donna Wright. —Staff Photo.

A portion of the huge crowd that attended the opening ceremonies in the park, is pictured here. In spite of inclement weather in the afternoon, they returned for the program at night. —Staff Photo.
