

Winter Wheat Insurance Deadline September 15

For the first time last year crop insurance was made available, through the Crop Insurance Commission of Ontario, on winter wheat. Crop insurance is again available this fall on the winter wheat crop.

The Ontario Crop Insurance Commission reports that over 25% of the farmers, who insured their crop last fall, were paid claims this year. Losses were reported from all areas of the Province, resulting from winter-kill, flood and excessive rainfall.

WIDE COVERAGE
Coverage includes the hazards of drought, excessive rainfall, excess moisture, flood, frost, hail, wind, winter-kill, plant disease and insect infestation.

Under the new Crop Insurance Plan, the amount of coverage offered is optional. The farmer may insure for 60, 70 or 80% of his normal expected yield. In his application for coverage, a wheat producer must indicate his normal expected yield in bushels per acre based on production records covering the preceding ten years, and assuming normal conditions. The calculation for claims for the 1967-68 winter wheat crop will be based on a value of $1.50 per bushel.

The insurance contract offered by the Crop Insurance Commission of Ontario has been developed after extensive research and it has been especially designed with Ontario conditions in mind. It is pointed out that it might be termed a guaranteed production plan, as it virtually guarantees a farmer's yield from most hazards.

The premium rate schedule in this area for winter wheat for each $100.00 of insurance coverage is as follows: at 60% it is $4.40, at 70%-$5.90 and at 80%

How Important Is Your Radiator Cap?

Well, it's not an ornament. And its principle purpose is not just to keep the coolant from spilling out. Without it your car could not operate properly.

Radiator caps prevent your car's engine coolant from boiling out of the radiator through pressure. Each pound of cap pressure raises the boiling point three degrees, cooling the engine more efficiently.

An ordinary non-pressure system, for instance, reaches a boiling point at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. A pressure system with a 13-pound cap adds a 39 degree extra capacity by bringing the boiling point up to 251 degrees.

The water pump and heater depend greatly on the radiator cap for their efficiency. It prevents loss of anti-freeze and water and it minimizes vapor lock and detonation.

In addition to the standard radiator cap, there is a special cap available to prevent scalding by boiling coolant. It features a button in the middle of the cap that releases pressure instantly.

Your pressure system should be checked periodically to make sure that the pressure is up to maximum to allow full operating efficiency. A well equipped garage will be able to check the pressure and tell you if all is well.
