Legion News

By Eleanor Johnston
If any of our members have taken a good look at our Legion hall lately they will understand why the Branch is trying to raise money to improve it. One of our fund-raising activities has been regular monthly dances. Attendance at the October dance was poor because there were three dances being held in the community that weekend and competition was keen.

Continue Coffee House

STOUFFVILLE — The Ha' Penny Coffeehouse, that was accorded such enthusiastic response by Stouffville and district young people, will be continued. The Tribune was told this week. Linda Sargent, one of the promoters, said that adult sponsors were required, to be in attendance while shows were in progress. She said she was certain that enough people would come forward to help out in this way. She said also that more young people would be needed to organize the shows since the present executive couldn't carry on forever. The basement of Christ Anglican Church will still be used and a program is being planned for later this month.

The Vanishing Automobile Dealer

When this year's crop of new cars arrived in dealers' showrooms throughout the U.S. they were greeted by 671 fewer automobile dealers than last year's models. This represented a decline from 27,896 dealers throughout the country a year earlier. This loss during the '67 model year was greater than the 520 auto retail businesses that went down in 1966 or the 215 the year earlier. The present number represents a decline of 42.8 percent in 18 years. What is causing this trend to fewer and larger dealerships while the number of automobiles sold increases steadily? Mostly, it is dwindling or non-existent profits. Expense greater than the dealer realizes in the form of retail preparation, sales expense, supervision and free service after the sale make dealerships go broke while they were seemingly making a profit on the car sale. Industry figures for the first three months of this year show that new car dealers before taxes earned an average profit of 2.1 percent. About four out of every ten earned less and 16 percent operated at a net loss. If a dealer tries to remedy this situation by cutting corners on customer service, his future sales suffer. If his prices are not competitive with the lowest, his current sales volume declines. Dealers who survive and grow maintain rigid cost control over every part of their business as their only possible answer.

Remembrance Day Tea

A successful Centennial Remembrance Day tea and bazaar was held in the Legion Hall Nov. 11. The lucky winner of the chest of linens was Mrs. Cliff Lemon; the Centennial Doll, Yvonne Barker, and the Friendship Club Draw, Mrs. Gordon Smith. The quilt display attracted a great deal of interest as did the cosy living room scene on stage with its lovely antiques and charming family in costumes of 100 years ago.
