Accorded standing ovation

STOUFFVILLE — Sixty-nine young men, all recipients of Queen's Scout certificates, were accorded a standing ovation at the conclusion of an impressive ceremony in the auditorium of Stouffville Dist. Secondary School. An audience, estimated at over 500, attended the gathering, many coming from long distances.

"Things are different today," said Col. W. I. Walton of Camp Borden, who made the presentations, "but basic values have not changed. There is no substitute for honesty, honor, integrity and observance of the Golden Rule." "No problem was ever solved by backing away but never be afraid to seek help from your God," he continued, "and never be ashamed to need His help and His guidance."

Mr. C. D. Shepard, Q.C., the guest speaker, said that everyone, both young and old, are often called on to choose, and often that choice is between right and wrong. "Too often, in this rapid-changing world, we tend to move too fast and not know where we're going."

Lions President Mr. Ken Wagg has been named President of the Stouffville Lions Club for the year 1968-69 and will assume office in September. He will succeed President Don Huxtable to the post.
