Award certificates of merit

MARKHAM—More than 150 women attended the Markham Cancer Society's annual dessert tea, Sept. 17 at St. Andrew's United Church, Markham.

Mrs. Gordon Penny and members of the executive provided the eye-catching floral and fruit centerpieces and a scrumptious array of desserts.

Mrs. R. H. Shaw, President of the Markham branch, welcomed guests and announced that the Cancer Society in Markham is now officially a unit incorporating Stouffville and Unionville as branches.

As Presiding Officer, Mrs. T. G. Norton asked for a reading of the slate of officers and called for nominations. The list of officers was accepted as read.

Five members of the Markham Cancer Society received a Certificate of Merit for their outstanding work in the Society throughout the years. They were Mrs. O. R. Stalter, Mrs. R. J. A. Young, Mrs. R. Furneaux, Mrs. H. Rose and Miss Aileen Stewart. Mention was also made of a special guest present, Mrs. Dorothy Duncan, who was the first woman in Markham to hold a Cancer meeting in her home.

The highlight of the tea was a talk by the Guest Speaker, Mrs. Mart Kenney, who is Chairman of District Counties. Mrs. T. A. Leishman introduced Mrs. Kenney who then spoke on the tremendous growth of the Cancer Society from its formation in 1938. To date there are over 100,000 volunteers in Ontario. Mrs. Norman Duff thanked the speaker.

Apple butter festival

CEDAR GROVE—More than 350 attended the barbecue dinner and dance at Cedar Grove, Sept. 21. The next big community event is the Apple Butter Festival, Oct. 12 and 14.

Congratulations to Lloyd and Vera Taylor on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Their neighbors didn't allow the date to pass without a party. About thirty attended a gathering in their honor and presented them with a decorative cake and a pole lamp. Friday was also Wilfred Reesor's birthday and a cake was made to mark the occasion.

Now that the public and high school students are settled into the fall term, the college attenders are beginning to trickle to new or old callings. Catherine Ritchie and Cathy McClelland began U. of T. this week and Margaret Davis will begin at OAC next week. Robert Tapscott returns to Waterloo.

Bob and Marie Dare enjoyed a holiday in Montreal and Don McClelland has returned from a cruise of the Thousand Islands.

Olympic site still in use

INNSBRUCK, AUSTRIA — To reach Innsbruck from the Montafon Valley is a thrilling trip by car over the Silvretta Pass. Weather was clear all the way but from Innsbruck the next morning we heard by radio it was snowing at the top. Both going up and down taking several hours, we got a look at more of Austria's great power projects, all powered by glacier-fed streams.

Little concern seems to be expressed here of the presence of the Russians on the Czech border only a few hundred miles to the east from this city. I saw the Austrian Chancellor speaking on national TV last night.

This is a most interesting city with old streets dating back several hundred years. Along with these are busy modern thoroughfares with shopping as up-to-date as anywhere. An interesting item are the doorways of some of the oldest buildings; iron doors which were closed tight at the time of the Great Plague in the Middle Ages. A small opening was left through which food was passed and the occupants of the house, one by one, succumbed to the Black Death.

Our hotel window looks up the mountain where the giant ski jump was built for the Winter Olympics 1960. It was a thrill to drive up there and see this huge installation, the great saucer which bore the flame, the Olympic emblem high on the jump and the names of the medal winners inscribed. They included Peter Burka and several other Canadian skaters and the 4-man bobsled team from Canada. The modern arena for skating and hockey is used regularly as is the ski jump.

The neatness and cleanliness of the city is impressive and on the outskirts, the uniform racks of hay and corn fields reach along the valley and well up the mountain slopes. If one needed any urging to learn two languages in Canada, he only needs to visit these foreign cities and experience the inadequacy of knowing only English. This is a land of sausage, saurkraut and beer. These people love to eat, to sing and enjoy life to the full.

The hospitality is wonderful and one is made to feel much at home despite the language barrier.

'Cloud' of butterflies

By ADA STECKLEY
RINGWOOD — Many residents in the area witnessed the 'cloud of butterflies' migrating to the southern climes, Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steckley viewed the unusual sight, estimated at over 500.

Rev. William Pape and daughter, Janet, enjoyed lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steckley.

The Harvest Home Service was well attended. Rev. R. M. Vague addressed the congregation in the morning. Rev. Fred Campbell of Scarborough was the pastor in the evening. Four teenage girls, Lois Empringham, Joanna Reesor, Janet Hisey, Vicky Bachlow, accompanied by pianist, Lois Hisey, sang at both services.

Mrs. Glenn Hutchinson and son of Maple, her father, William Gayman, Beamsville, called on Mrs. George Hoover, Mill Street and Mrs. Jim Painter, Ringwood. Later, they enjoyed dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Kelth.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. A. Emmerson is now home from Uxbridge Hospital.

The executive group of the Stouffville Horticultural Society enjoyed a corn roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steckley.
