At Cedar Grove

Discussion on Benson tax reform

By Pat McClelland CEDAR GROVE — On Thursday, April 30, the Benson White Paper on Tax Reform will be the subject of discussion at a meeting in the Cedar Grove Schoolhouse. To assist folks in assessing all aspects of the document, explanations will be provided by Mr. David Perry of the Canadian Tax Foundation and Robert Sedgewick, Q.C., tax lawyer with a large Toronto Corporation. Both gentlemen are well known in the community and aware of particular problems within a rural area. Mr. Perry was born here and lived later at Green River. Mr. Sedgewick has lived at Hillside for many years. The aim of the venture is to discuss the Paper without a political bias. We are not concerned with opinion based solely on parties or politics. Time of the meeting is 8 p.m. The Spring Concert of the Centennial Choirs will be held May 1 in the Cedar Grove Schoolhouse at 7:30 p.m. Forty-two children will present a varied program of songs. Ladies are reminded of
