Mrs. Andrew Glen

Brougham artist a realist

By Elsa Storry
BROUGHAM — As delicate as her water colors, and as vibrant as her portraits, Mrs. Andrew Glen received her friends and admirers last week at the opening of her art exhibit at the Robert McLaughlin Gallery in the Civic Centre, Oshawa.

Dorothy Glen, who resides with her husband Andrew on the fifth concession of Pickering Township, has been an artist devoted to her work for the past seventy years. Many of her paintings were - and will be - displayed at the gallery for the next three weeks - until November 1.

Her snow white hair framing her gentle face, and with Andrew at her side, Mrs. Glen declared that she was a realist, and that she painted her subjects as she saw them; that present day art did not appeal to her.

In one of the 'realist' paintings it was apparent that what Mrs. Glen saw was beauty. It was the scene across the road from their home - an old barn with cattle grazing in the green fields, and woodlands nearby. That scene remains only in a frame now, for the barn and fields are no more. Instead a large mushroom plant replaces it.

At the turn of the century Dorothy Glen, then a slight girl about to begin her art studies in New York, painted Colbourne Lodge at High Park in Toronto, in various aspects. Recently the Toronto Historical Society purchased six of her paintings of the old structure, and will be guided by them for further restoration of buildings that have long since been demolished.

Many of the watercolors displayed were scenes on the quiet farm where she resides - of the stream that ripples through it, of the trees and flowers, the glowing colors of which are transferred to her canvases.

Portrait in oils of an old man - there are two studies of aged, bearded men, one of which won a special award in art circles - is Mrs. Glen's favorite.

A collection of nudes done by the artist in her earlier years shows strength, symmetry of line, and beauty of form.

In a room adjoining Mrs. Glen's "retrospective" are 'Canadian watercolors of the 19th century,' colorful early Canadian studies done in the 1800's. Another room exhibits the modern art of today.

Below, the group who was there to honor Mrs. Glen enjoyed coffee and refreshments, together with the all-Canadian boutique shop which includes Eskimo carvings, ceramics, weaving, children's toys - all art that is different and delightful.

Mrs. E. White, Whitby, Mrs. Ernie Baker and Mrs. Loss Hill, of Clarendon, attended the installation of Mrs. Edith Hill as Worthy Matron, Chapter 144, Eastern Star, Collingwood.

Ray Carruthers, Clarendon, was the winner of the 50-50 draw sponsored by the Clarendon and District Lions Club.

This is where you're sure of prescriptions at reasonable cost!

Is the PARCOST symbol displayed at the pharmacy where you get your prescriptions filled? If it is, you can be sure your pharmacist is interested in helping you obtain prescriptions at reasonable cost. Concern about both quality and cost of drugs, and interest in the patient who pays the bill, is the whole theme of the PARCOST program. A copy of the PARCOST Comparative Drug Index that your Ontario Department of Health has sent to your doctor, is in constant use in pharmacy dispensaries. This authoritative Index of quality drugs enables your doctor and your pharmacist to see at a glance the differences in cost of various manufacturers' drugs of the same formula and strength... and to be aware of cost when prescribing or dispensing your prescription. As the PARCOST program gains more and more support from physicians and pharmacists, the end result will be to lower the average cost of prescriptions in Ontario. You can help hasten this day by always getting your prescriptions filled at a pharmacy where the PARCOST symbol is displayed.
