Buttonville - only one original farm remains

By Jean Leal
BUTTONVILLE — This hamlet as a farm community is fast disappearing. Only one farm remains in the family name. The Burr farm is still operated by brothers Newton and Russell and even these men have given up the dairy business for which they have been so prominent. Fifteen years ago, the community was strictly farming with such familiar names as Boynton, Champion, Hood, Hooper and so on. The Rodick and McQuay farms are now zoned for outside industrial storage and both the Hooper and Hood farms have been absorbed into Buttonville airport. Other well-known householders are leaving. The Staller family has moved to B.C. and Mrs. Geo. Oakes has sold her home and will leave shortly.

Open St. Mark's addition
Prior to ceremonies opening the addition to St. Mark's School, Sunday, Board Trustee John McDermott (left), discussed points of interest with Vice-Chairman John LeClaire and Principal John Cronin in the school's new library.

Smorgasbord Wednesday, October 28th is the annual Smorgasbord at Brown's Corners Church. Jennie Bouck and Kay Williams have consented to bring music, and of course there are our own talented musicians, Dorothy Reesor, Marguerite Jones, John Stewart, and Sharon Buchanan.

Mrs. Vi Jones is now working at Fairview Mall. The John Buchanan family was in St. Catharines late last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Buchanan's aunt.

School - a community centre

UXBRIDGE TWP. — The former Siloam Public School, now owned by Uxbridge Township, will be established as a Community Centre with the approval of a bylaw at the next meeting of council.

The agreement to proceed with the project followed an application presented by Beverly Beach, R.R.3, Stouffville. Mr. Beach said an estimated $10,000 had been spent on the property by the school board prior to its closing and the structure was in a good state of repair. It suggested a cost of about $1,000 to add a kitchen to the building. He pointed out that a $250 subsidy on this figure was obtainable by Provincial grant.

The recommendation that a Bylaw be prepared was moved by councillor Clark Muirhead and seconded by councillor George Harvie.
