

Sixteen year old Laurie Bell is a part-time waitress at the Stouffville Plaza Restaurant. Her heart is in the Theatre, however, a course she plans to take on completion of Grade 12 at S.D.S.S. Jim Thomas.

Loves Theatre

VIVIAN—Patrons at the Stouffville Plaza Restaurant have often commented on the neat, trim appearance and friendly personality of waitresses there.

One of these is 16 year old Laurie Bell, a Grade 11 student at Stouffville District Secondary School. She's The Tribune's Teen Pick of the Week.

Laurie enjoys her work. "The people are really nice," she says, particularly the elderly folk who drop in from time to time. Laurie's sister, Julie, 18, and in Grade 13, is also a waitress on the staff.

Julie resides west of Vivian at R-R-1, Cedar Valley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bell. She has four brothers, David, Peter, Joey and Johnny, and one other sister, Joanna, age 3. Mr. Bell is an owner and trainer of race horses and on occasions Julie has guided one of the speedy steeds on a stint around the track.

Julie is an extremely busy girl. In addition to her part-time restaurant work, she makes most of her own clothes. She's a member of the school's newspaper staff and active in Theatre Arts.

It was her interest in this course that brought her to Stouffville High. She resides within the boundary of Newmarket H.S.S. but instruction of this kind wasn't offered there. So, with the Board's okay, she joined the student ranks at S.D.S.S.

Julie has no plans to become an actress. Instead, she prefers to work behind the scenes in character make-up. Following Grade 12, she hopes to follow this through at the University of Guelph.

Lower costs if feed bought now and stored

By A.A. WALL York Region Ag. Rep.

The combines are making great progress with the corn crop this fall. Except for some fields damaged by wind two weeks ago, field losses are much lower than usual.

Yields are down somewhat with not enough rain last summer but there is still a good crop and, corn can be brought direct from growers if the buyer has storage.

Temporary cribs work well and the acid treatment costing less than $5.00 per ton is quite practical for shelled corn direct from the field. Setting the price for wet corn takes some figuring. If dry corn is selling for $80.00 a ton for example, then the equivalent feed value for a ton of shelled corn at 25 per cent moisture would be $71.70 and a ton of cob corn at 25 per cent would be worth $54.45.

It would be fair to subtract the drying and handling costs from the $71.70 price or the storage cost from the $54.45. Some allowance might also be made for trucking.

People often shy away from these farm-to-farm deals because there has to be some bargaining done, and they aren't as clear cut as firm market prices for dry grain. But if a livestock feeder wants to keep feed costs as low as possible, buying feed direct at harvest time and doing his own handling and storage is his best approach.
