'Scent-sational' suggestions fill air with essence of a merrier Christmas.

Men's after shaves and colognes have never been offered in such variations as in the current holiday season. Scents, like men's fashions, can now be chosen to fit the personality.

This grand array of fragrances and the many imaginative decanters in which they come, may seem like a relatively new innovation, but it's actually the outgrowth of a 5,000-year-old tradition.

History books say the priests of Egypt were the first perfumers. They blended sesame, almond and olive oils with flowers, balsam, and myrrh for nobles to use in their households to follow their balls. A royal Egyptian royalty is said to have invented the first perfume.

In addition to their fragrance, these oils blends also acted as protection from the intensely drying sun.

Surprise!

When the tomb of King-Menes was opened, unguent vases of centuries old were discovered. And in this century, archaeologists found magnificent urns of alabaster, ivory and ivory still waiting scents in the tomb of King Ptolemaios, who died in 180 B.C.

Greek legend claims Venus' first used fragrances, and man learned of them accidentally from one of her talkative nymphs.

By 300 B.C., Greek writer Theophrastus had authored a treatise on the house to get ready for the Christmas is a great feeling to have already. Business groups and individuals are busy decorating stores, homes and flats for the Christmas season. It's a time when we can tell some one we love them, we can try a little harder to greet each person; each situation with a smile. We can rush away all the negative things in life and reach out for the good things in people and situations. As the song says: "Every thing is beautiful in its own way." This Christmas Season, tell some one YOU LOVE THEM!

Christmas is the time to... The excitement and glitter of Christmas is jumping out at us already. Business groups and individuals are busy decorating stores, homes and flats for the Christmas season. It's a time when we can tell some one we love them, we can try a little harder to greet each person; each situation with a smile. We can rush away all the negative things in life and reach out for the good things in people and situations. As the song says: "Every thing is beautiful in its own way." This Christmas Season, tell some one YOU LOVE THEM!

Gift ties reflect beauty of stained glass windows

Neckwear patterns reminiscent of the stained glass windows have been introduced for holiday gift-giving.

As everyone knows, neckwear is a welcome sight under the tree. But these new patterns will be actually bringing the spirit of the holidays into the home.

There are patterns: Champagne, Mes.

Family gift... A Christmas vacation

You've earned it, you deserve it and it makes a very fine Christmas present — family vacation.

It's something everyone can enjoy, there's no worry about exchanging it for the right size and it's very much in style.

On the more serious side, chances are the children are on vacation from school, the older ones might be an opportune time to vacation.

If you don't want to be on the road for the holiday itself there is always the week between Christmas and New Years.

The vacation should be viewed as a gift, thought from the family to the family and that means that everyone should play a role in the planning as well as the financing.

Now's the time to get the house ready for Christmas!

Some people project their personalities through a talent—born with and developed: music, sculpture, dance, painting, writing. Others get creative with cooking, gardening, sewing, cabinetry or woodcarving. Everybody, whether he considers himself talented or not, can enjoy the self-expression of home decorating.

"Express yourself" is not necessarily "do-it-yourself"; although there's great satisfaction (and great assistance to the decorating budget) in having laid your own tiles, made a slipcover, hung wallpaper, or painted a table.

What's important are your ideas, expressed in the colors you choose, patterns you combine, ways of arranging furniture, how you use space to make room for hobbies, collections, work and play. Doing this kind of decorating is fun. Living in the environment you've created is even more so.
