June graduation is her goal

Margaret Ostrander, 18, is in her final year at Stouffville High. She hopes to graduate in June.

However, her progress to that end was stalled (at least temporarily), Friday, due to the teachers' strike. She, and hundreds more, had spent most of the day at home. She did not attempt to conceal her concern.

By Stouffville standards, Margaret is a to town, moving to 449 Watson Drive, from Toronto, five years ago. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ostrander. She has two sisters, Jeanette and Linda; and one brother, Ross.

Re-location from the 'big city' to 'suburbia' has presented no real problem. Even the long walk to Orchard Park School (Grade 8) and S.D.S.S., brings no complaint. "I like it here," she says, "I never yant to goback".

Although undecided as to her future vocation, comparative newcomer Margaret is interested in some kind of computer

Margaret enjoys playing bridge or admits "I'm learning", when questioned about the game. She's a member of the school's Bridge Club.

In the little spare time available at home, Margaret attempts to improve her proficiency at billiards. Her ultimate goal is to beat her brother. However, Ross has other ideas. "Never,"

And, oh yes, she's the friendly girl behing the counter at Ashton's Variety, Main Street East, every Saturday.

Eighteen year old Margaret Ostrander, Watson Drive, Stouffville, is in her final year at S.D.S.S. Although not undecided as to her future vocation, Margaret's interests tend towards computer work. She's The Tribune's Jim Thomas 'Teen Pick of the Week'.

Although the questionnaires were to be returned to the school by Feb. 4, disruptions due to the teacher's strike, has forced an extension of the deadline. Up to Monday noon, less than 40 had come back.

No good deed for Scouts

STOUFFVILLE Local Council was not prepared to 'do its good deed for the day' when the Boy Scouts of Greater Toronto Area asked for financial assistance. The group's request for $599 to defray construction costs of an Adult Training Building at its Woodland Trails Camp, was denied after councillor Cathy Joice pointed out that the camp had already received a $12,000 government grant. Mrs. Joice said she had also learned that local cub-scouting groups did not benefit greatly from the Camp; they were given no special priorities and they paid. for using the facility.

The results will form a basis for discussion at a Professional Development Day, Feb. 22, in the Library (Romm 128) at the school, beginning at 9 a.n. Interested parents, willing to attend, are asked to notify the office
