Open to everyone
Local government
subject of course

YORK REGION — A course is available for any person interested in learning the workings of municipal government. The Ontario Conference on Local Government basic course will be held at Don Head Secondary School, Major MacKenzie Drive, Richmond Hill and commences Tuesday, September 24, running for six consecutive Tuesdays from 8-10 p.m.

Another aspect of the curriculum is parliamentary procedure in the council chamber, legal authority and an outline of criteria by which to judge a person running for office.

Craft show
at Seneca

KING TOWNSHIP — More than 80 artists and craftsmen will display their work this coming Sunday at the King Campus of Seneca College. It is Seneca's Fall Festival and will feature arts, crafts and antiques, displayed from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The items on display will be offered for sale.

The O.C.L.G. course teaches community planning, the need for planning, the role of the planner and planning board, official plans, restricted or zoning by-laws and the role of the Committee of Adjustment. Participants will learn how to become a member of arena and other boards or commissions. This also includes the definition of a local board and commission; how they are created; their relationship to council and other boards and inter-body liaison.

Added attractions will be guided tours of Seneca's Visual Arts Centre and of Eaton Hall. The King Campus is located on Dufferin St., two miles north of the King-Sideroad. Admission to the grounds is $1 for adults and 25 cents for children. There is no charge for children with a parent and parking is free.
