

PHILIPS MODULAR
STIPHOUT'S
 T.V. Sales & Service
 5042 BROCK RD. NORTH CLAREMONT
 IMMEDIATE SERVICE TO ALL MAKES
 CALL 649-2913

Former Stouffville man is convicted

MUSSELMAN'S LAKE — A motorist with "no keys," was convicted Friday in Richmond Hill Court of having care and control of a motor vehicle while his ability to drive was impaired by alcohol.

In addition, Norman Casimir, formerly of former Constable Robert Hill said the man was brought to him for a breathalyzer, but "refused to blow."

Constable Lloyd Sentes testified that on the night in question he came upon a vehicle parked in the wrong lane of traffic, with the lights out and blocking the road. He said the man, identified as Mr. Casimir, showed all the signs of impairment. The accused fumbled through his pockets for his ignition keys, but none was found.

At Newmarket,

Mr. Casimir said he had attended a party at the home of his son. Later he recalled being driven to his daughter's to spend the night, the car stalled.

He admitted, "feeling good," but not drunk. He considered the request, "to blow," as some kind of joke.

The judge refused to accept the accused's evidence and registered a conviction on both charges.

Take care of your flowers

Flowering bulbs, corms, and tubers are usually harvested right after the first killing frost. But what do you do with the bulbs when they are dug up? Dave Sangster, a horticultural specialist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, has some suggestions for successful storage.

After bulbs and corms have been dug, cut back the tops to about one inch from the top of the bulb. With tubers, the plants are cut down to within two to three inches of the ground and dug up. The bulbs, corms, and tubers are then thoroughly air-dried by exposing them to the sun.

After drying, they should be cleaned thoroughly. All old and diseased sections as well as excess soil should be removed. With gladiolus corms, use an insecticide dust as soon as possible after digging as an effective control measure against thrips.

Extra care should be taken in storing these roots. Wooden boxes such as open flats or crates are most suitable, since they allow good ventilation. Do not store in plastic bags or closed cardboard cartons; storage diseases or premature sprouting could result.

The flats or crates of roots should be stored in a cool, well-ventilated area of the basement, a storage temperature between 45 to 50 degrees is ideal.

Store plows carefully

Whether you plow in the spring, the fall, or both, one thing is for sure: it feels good to have the plowing done. But don't let yourself think things are finished until that plow is properly cared for and put away. Taking a little time to put your plow away properly will save you time when you need the plow later.

And it may save you money by reducing the number of parts you'll need to buy.

With these thoughts in mind, engineers have developed the following check list of things to do when you've finished plowing:

1. Clean all soil engaging parts and apply a heavy coating of grease to prevent rust.

2. Make a thorough visual inspection of the plow. Check for worn or broken parts and make notes of them for replacement during the off season.

3. Check nuts and bolts for tightness and tighten as needed.

4. If plow has hydraulic reset, check system pressure.

Maintain recommended pressure in accumulator.

5. If plow is to be stored outside, cover accumulator and hydraulic gauge with waterproof canvas or black plastic film (clear plastic film will attract moisture).

6. Plug and cover hydraulic couplers to keep them clean and protected from weather.

7. Store hoses in hose frame.

8. Check pressure in tires and inflate to recommended pressure.

9. Store plow in a shed or in a protected place out of your way but easy to get to when it's plowing time again.

Only the immature corn will be damaged, but many fields have not yet ripened. Grain corn is likely to be hit hardest, since it ripens later than field corn used for silage.

The total crop will not be lost, however.

Wall predicted that most would be harvested, and some of the grain corn

would be used for silage.

More than half of the Region's corn comes from the southwest sector.

Most crops have been affected by frost now, in large areas of the Region.

Harvesting activity has come to an early peak as farmers attempt to save the crops that might otherwise be lost.

This is being hampered in some cases by a shortage of

Members meet in Toronto

STOUFFVILLE — A number of local residents recently attended the 59th convention of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The Stouffville delegation consisted of Mrs. R. Lippett and Mr. and Mrs. S. Jenkins, members of the Order, and Mrs. Agnes Wallace, a delegate to the convention, and Mr. William Wallace.

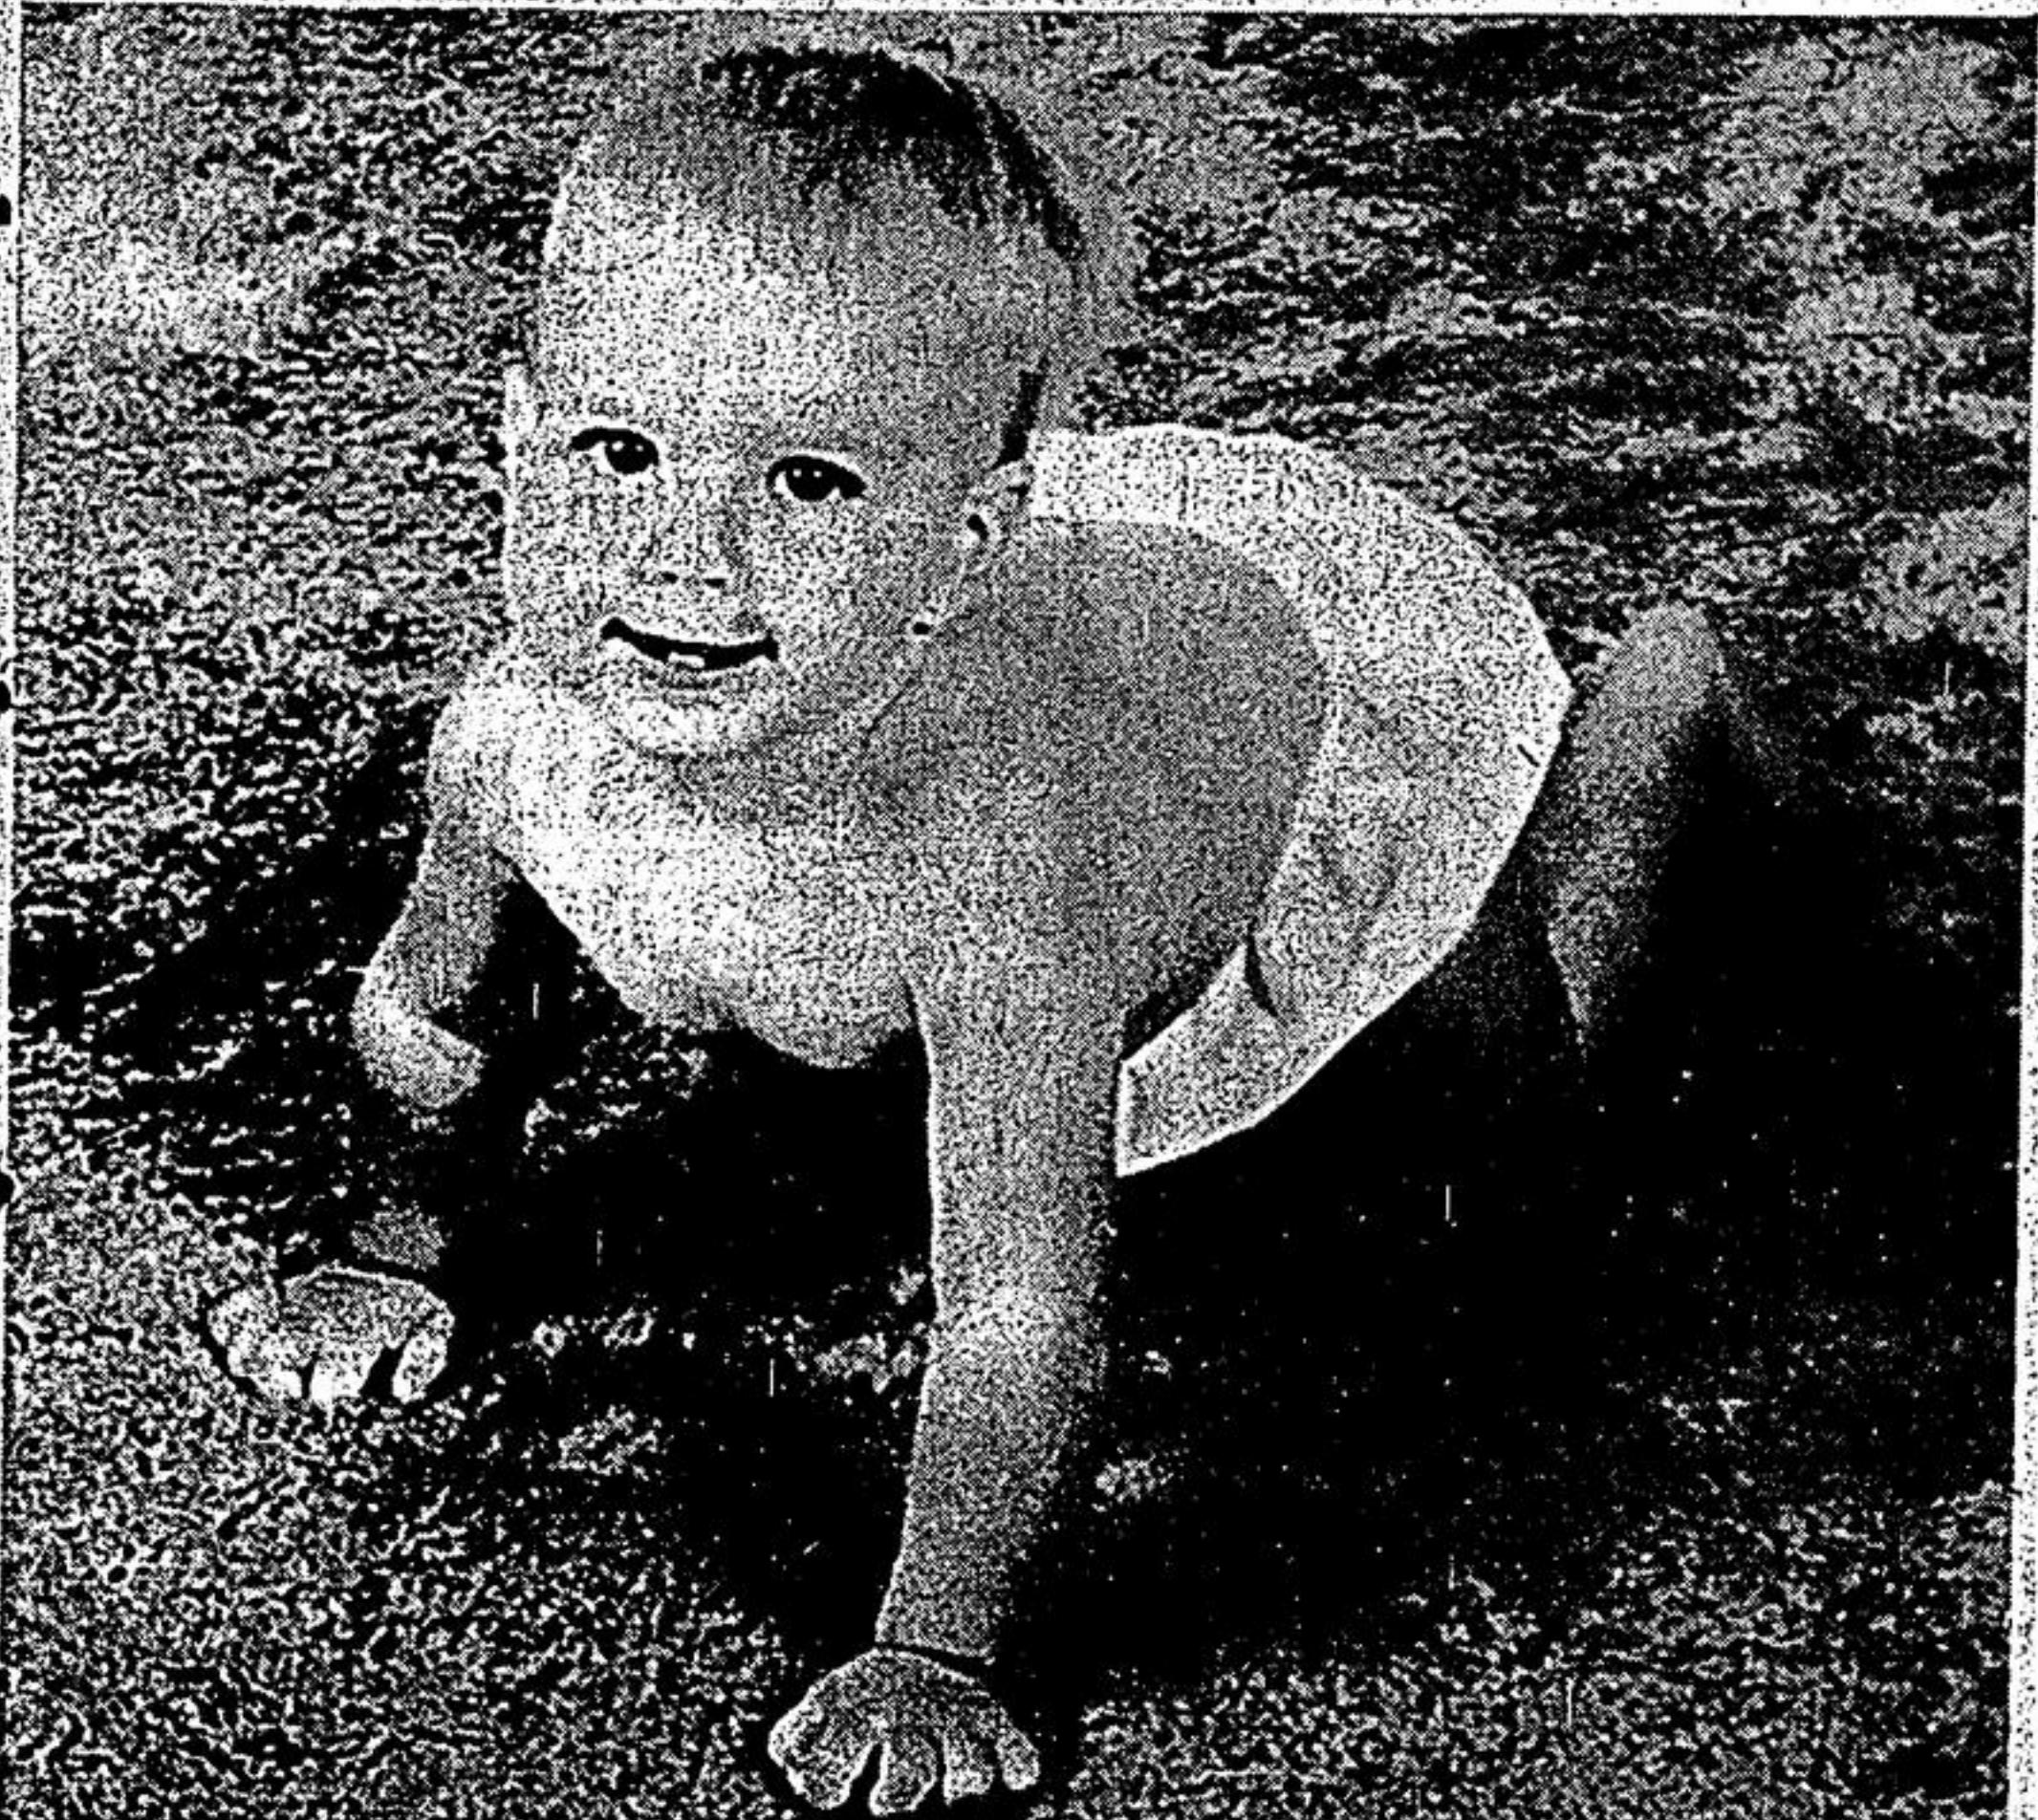

Ruth Jeffries (left) and Kathy Richards, both of Church St., prepare their lessons at the new location for the Whitchurch-Stouffville Municipal Library at Mill and Main Streets. Librarian Lynne Robbins says: "We've had a great surge in membership since the library reopened. Over 200 new members have signed up. There has also been a 'surge in circulation' she said.

unionville nurseries
 we're moving
 ... and we can't take it all with us
 so,
 we're having a
CLEARANCE SALE
 with up to 50%
off
ON OUR ENTIRE STOCK!

trees, shrubs, evergreens, perennials, vines, hedges, garden tools, supplies, giftware, pottery, glassware, fountains, Christmas decorations, and more.

EVERYTHING TO BE SOLD.

unionville nurseries
 Highway 7 — West of Markham Rd. — East of Kennedy Rd.

I am a thermostat.

Since I spend so much time on the floor, I am the first to know if the house isn't properly heated! If it's five degrees too cold, I get a sore throat... if it's draughty, I sneeze... if there are cold spots, I cough. Too bad there isn't an easier way to tell somebody.

Don't wait for your baby or small child to tell you what's wrong with your heating! Act now before winter's here. If you noticed draughts, cold spots, up-and-down temperatures last winter—or if your children seemed to have constant colds—then call the Gas Company right now! One of our experts will give you a free home heating survey, advising you on how to get sneeze-proof protection. A new Natural Gas furnace may be the answer. Besides providing efficient heating throughout your home at an economical price, Natural Gas makes sense in other ways, too. It's clean. Customers who have changed their forced air furnaces to Natural Gas report that their drapes and walls stay much cleaner.

A gas furnace will also provide you with extra space in the basement or recreation room. Since there are no fuel tanks, you can use the space for storage or recreation.

Energy conservation is a great concern today and most homeowners are doing everything possible to cooperate with government and community efforts to save. We feel that a thorough inspection of your heating system, combined with an up-to-date Natural Gas furnace, is a good way to do this. For more details, call your Gas Company today.

Ph. 887-5847

Consumers' Gas

Early frost hit local crops in random pattern

YORK REGION

The recent frosts have hit agriculture in the area in a haphazard fashion.

Al Wall, provincial agricultural representative, described the situation as "illegal." Some places experienced severe damage, others had none at all, he said. "It's not as bad as we feared it would be."

Hardest hit of all were cornfields in the Unionville, Markham, Vaughan area. There, according to Wall, the frost has been severe enough to stop the growth. He estimated that more than 60 percent of the crop has been affected.

Despite these efforts, it seems likely that losses will be high in this area due to the unexpected early frosts. The effect this will have on food prices has not yet been calculated, but most observers believe they will—as usual—climb sharply.

Only the immature corn will be damaged, but many fields have not yet ripened. Grain corn is likely to be hit hardest, since it ripens later than field corn used for silage.

The total crop will not be lost, however. Wall predicted that most would be harvested, and some of the grain corn would be used for silage.

More than half of the Region's corn comes from the southwest sector.

Most crops have been affected by frost now, in large areas of the Region.

Harvesting activity has come to an early peak as farmers attempt to save the crops that might otherwise be lost.

This is being hampered in some cases by a shortage of

UNDERWOOD BROADLOOM

CLEARANCE OF DISCONTINUED BROADLOOM LINES

NOTE You'll certainly save a lot of $$$ by buying NOW!

We're discontinuing the broadloom styles listed below to make room for new stock arrivals. This sale event starts Wed., Sept. 25th and continues only while existing stock lasts. Not all colours in all sizes and styles at each store, so for the best selection—

CHOOSE NOW!

You can take your selection with you or with a small deposit, we'll keep it 'till you're ready.

HERE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE NAME BRANDS

• CORONET low level commercial loop	• BARRYMORE carved domestic
• OLYMPIA carved plush	$5.99
• PEERLESS Plush	SQ. YD.
• OLYMPIA Short shag
• and many, many more grades and styles
• CROSSLEY multi-coloured shag	$7.99
• HARDING twist	SQ. YD.
• DAN RIVER short mini shag
• ARMSTRONG twist
• CELANESE twist (short pieces)
• CROSSLEY woven back	$13.99
• DAN RIVER Wunda Wave low	SQ. YD.
• CROSSLEY Commercial
• DAN RIVER Scotchguard Frieze (high twist)

Just go to any of our outlets listed below, and we'll find the colour and style just right for you. In all cases these carpets sold previously for much higher prices, so hurry!

Remember-limited quantities and qualities of carpet at each store.

ask about our low prices

UNDERWOOD BROADLOOM MILLS

MARKHAM
 17th Concession Line
 100 yds. north of Hwy. 7
 297-2228 (Toronto)
 Mon., Tues., Sat., 9-6
 Wed., Thurs., Fri., 9-9:30

BARRIE
 The Baymart Plaza
 Just north of Bad Boy
 Across from Georgian Mall
 728-0899

NEWMARKET
 Main St. - Just south of Davis Drive
 898-1800
 Mon., Tues., Sat., 9-6
 Wed., Thurs., Fri., 9-9:30

TERMS
 CASH or CHARGE

...the carpeting experts...