

Only the blackened shell of a house remains after fire gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor of Claremont. Their two sons, Terry, 3, and Douglas, 5, were killed in the blaze. A fund has been started to help the Taylor family.

Don Bernard

Two boys killed in fire

CLAREMONT — Over $2,000 has been donated so far in a fund to help Frank and Judy Taylor whose house was gutted Friday morning. The couple's two sons Terry, 3, and Douglas, 5, were killed in the blaze.

The fund was established by the Claremont Lions Club which kicked in the first $100 and Elsie Prentiss Highland Sword Dance wed on to a rousing afternoon entertainment. Terri Pilkey very fitly in silver and black, with touches of gold, esented her first member, a tap dancer. She did another tap, Charleston and the Can Can, all in appropriate costumes. Rosemary arms beautiful clear upper floor of the house but could not rescue the boys because of smoke and flames. He ran outside and attempted to climb to the bedroom, but fell through the plastic porch roof.

Passersby wrapped him in a coat and applied first aid. He was taken to Ajax-Pickering Hospital with a severed artery in his leg, but fell through the plastic porch roof.

Billed as the Future Tijuana Brass, the sweetest music came so being taken by Frank's where he has toiled for the various instruments.

The Ricky Hepburn Gang featuring Ricky Georgia and Al Hepburn, Britton, small fry Chris and Dawn Fraser, Traci Pilkey Joanne Redshaw and Susie Carruthers sang the Merry Bells of Christmas.

Other singers were the Junior Club, accompanied by Leo

To you and yours
Seasons
from JOHN
Your Local F

Zoning By-Law 72-7 and the official plan:

"There is no need to create an urban community within the municipality," he argued, "development should be confined to uses not requiring servicing."

William Hartshorne also made representation to council. He told council the ratepayers are "not opposed to development" on this particular property as it is not farmland, but they object to the proposed density. He pointed out that all the neighbors have 10 to 15 acre lots.

He argued the repercussions of this development "are going to take place for the next 20 to 30 years," and that "the economy is going into a recession. If you don't have a job you can't afford a home."

"If you have a subdivision it should be beside a subdivision. Not stuck in the bush."

Skaters needed for skate-a-thon

STOUFFVILLE — Stouffville Minor Hockey is looking for people willing to skate to earn some money for that organization. At 5 p.m. Dec. 28, the association will feature a 24-hour skate-a-thon and hopes to have members of the community, young and old, participating.

Those who do not have registration forms, may pick them up at the Arena Saturday mornings. Those completing the full 24 hours will receive a plaque for the achievement.

You can put people in but you can't make the neighbors accept them." He also pointed out the lack of recreational facilities and amenities (such as shopping) in the area.

He expressed the fear the development would bring additional tax burdens to the area and he speculated as to the cost of supplying the residents with water if the available water supply proved inadequate.

Councillor Merlyn Baker

lied, he has "information re is a good supply of water." Another area resident used the topography of the property is "too hilly" for that site of development.

Mayor Gordon Ratcliff told dissident ratepayers that since the inception of regional government four years ago the municipality has been "into growth development" and the feeling of planning board "we should have some development" of this type.

The mayor guaranteed the contours of the property will remain the same and he added "the neighbors won't see the homes whether we end up with 27 or 20."

"It's a planning job to show what's feasible there," said Mr. Ratcliff, and he promised the residents they would be notified before the matter came up for a vote.

Other councillors expressed reservations with Mayor Gordon Ratcliff warning that "we must be careful with it, there is a lake in there, and there are some doubts about 30 lots in there."

Councillor Merlyn Baker suggested that "there is a major engineering job to do, to take water from roads in the subdivision to the 6th and into the Holland River."

Mr. Karuk maintained that the problem of the kettle lake could be solved to the satisfaction of the Ontario government. He suggested the town have its own consulting engineers to do a study.

Gordon Otes speaking on behalf of some of the residents said that if he got answers to his questions, "we would be more receptive to the plan."

He specifically wanted to know the number of houses to be built. Mr. Karuk maintained that that could not be determined until permission was received to proceed.

They are seeking an official plan amendment changing the area from agricultural to estate residential.

Mayor Ratcliff suggested an independent environmentalist be engaged to the study with the costs to be borne by the developers.

Snowmobile troubles start

STOUFFVILLE — Although the snowfall so far this year has been marginal, council members have already been receiving complaints about trespassing snowmobilers.

Councillor June Button told council she has been receiving complaints from people living in the new subdivision and that when she went to York Regional Police she was told they can only prosecute when the property trespassed on is posted as private.

"Carry a shotgun. It's just as effective," suggested Councillor Art Starr.

Someone on council pointed out there has not been enough snow in the past two years for snowmobiles to be a problem which prompted Mr. Starr to say, "I hope we don't get it this year then."

"I didn't want to be the miserable one to say that," replied Councillor Eldred King, who apparently shares Mr. Starr's views on the subject.

Council decided to wait until the forthcoming provincial legislation on snowmobiles is passed before changing the municipal by-law.

"The by-law committee will have to investigate," commented Mayor Gordon Ratcliff.

Tribune publishes Christmas Eve

STOUFFVILLE — The Tribune will be published on Christmas Eve next week to allow the staff of the newspaper to spend the holiday with their families. Deadlines for classified and display advertising will be Saturday at noon. Those with news items for the issue must have them in by Saturday at 5 p.m.

The Tribune

VOL. 87 NO. 33

WHITCHURCH-STOUFFVILLE-MARKHAM-DEC. 19, 1974

16 PAGES

'Private recreation club'

Neighbors fear influx

STOUFFVILLE — A proposal to establish a "private recreational club" on the site of the Cedar Spring Trout Farm on Highway 48, drew considerable opposition from neighbors at Planning committee last week.

Deanna McNeilly appeared to explain the proposal which would see 200 campsites established on the farm. She said that the zoning presently allowed her to go ahead but she added that she "did not want to cause friction" and decided to seek council approval.

She said the plan is to create a 200-member fishing club, with members allowed to put their trailers there for five months of the year.

A trunk sewer would be installed with holding tanks and the effluent would be pumped to the rear of the property where it would be dumped into a large septic tank system.

She maintained that the proposals would only add to the value of surrounding properties.

Veterinarian Dr. A. T. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

Dr. O'Connor said that the trailer park "has got to depreciate my property."

"We moved to the country to avoid noise and now we are getting it here too," he said.

One member asked if the project could be stopped and was assured by Mayor Gordon Ratcliff that "if the neighbors don't want it, council doesn't want it."

Robert Lowe questioned whether Miss McNeilly could confine the people to her farm alone.

Miss McNeilly assured him that it would never become a commercial operation.

Another neighbor, Merv Turner, expressed his concern over pollution and noise stating that "it will be noisy there on weekends."

"This reminds me of a miniature Lake Wilcox," he added.

</