Maintenance costs cited

3rd tender accepted

YORK REGION — The third lowest tender for 34 new police vehicles has been accepted by Board of Police Commissioners and York Regional Council.

The lowest tender, by Emerald Isle Motors Ltd. Stouffville was rejected according to Police Commissioner Ray Twinney because of the high cost of maintaining Chryslers.

The accepted tender, that of Colonial Chevrolet Oldsmobile Ltd., was for $103,306, more than $10,000 higher than Emerald Isle's quoted price.

According to Mr. Twinney the Plymouths required "extensive repairs" which in 1974 cost $81,000. He told council the maintenance costs for Durham Regional Police, who are equipped with 1974 Chevrolets, is estimated to be about $50,000.

Markham Regional Councillor Bob Adams accused Mr. Twinney of "comparing apples and oranges" and suggested the only way to compare would be to split the purchase.

Mr. Twinney said $10,000 had been transferred out of the maintenance budget to cover the increase cost of purchasing the cruisers.

Richmond Hill Councillor Gordon Rowe said they were destroying "the credibility of tendering" and added if they didn't want Plymouths they sould have advertised for tenders on Chevrolets.

Charges laid in drug crackdown

STOUFFVILLE — Drug related charges were up significantly in 1974 and York Regional Police are putting on a special campaign to eliminate drug traffic in the region.

A special drug section of the Criminal Investigation Division made two raids last week as part of that campaign.

Jan. 20 at 2:15 p.m. officers executed a search warrant at a Centre St. residence in Richmond Hill and found a small bag of Marijuana, a container of hashish and one capsule of MDA.

Charged with possession of a narcotic is Gary Charles Carlisle of Richmond Hill.

That same day YRP officers executed a search warrant at a Neil Dr. address in Richmond Hill and seized two pipes and one jar containing marijuana. Jeffrey Scott Denton, 17 was charged with possession of marijuana.

In other drug related arrests a 15-year-old Stouffville youth was charged after a package of marijuana cigarettes was discovered on the youth at the Stouffville area Jan. 17. A bag of seeds was also found.

Glen David Frame, 20 of Thornhill was charged with possession of marijuana when police executed a search warrant at a Richmond Hill residence Jan. 24. A quantity of marijuana was found in the glove compartment of a vehicle.

Farm report

Few bright spots in beef prices

By A. A. WALL
Agricultural Representative

It's hard to find any bright spots in the beef business these days. Prices for cows, heifers and feeders have been low for quite awhile, and steers followed suit last week; going down to the low forties.

With cows under 20 cents, feeder calves between 25 and 35, beef is badly out of line with feed prices and the economy in general.

Hopefully, the drop in finished beef is just temporary, because right now the price is well below cost. The support price won't help because at $45.42 it wouldn't cover today costs and it will only be paid if the average from last August to next August falls below that figure.

It's quite unlikely that the average will be less than $45.42 but there will be lots of cattle sold for less than that and not eligible for any subsidy.

So, the finished price has to go up and it should, because the increase in steers for market in 1975 is only 3 percent but that doesn't mean any big change in cows and feeders. Cow slaughter in 1975 is expected to be 30 percent higher than 1974, with heifers up 12 percent.

Those with cow herds are in a bad spot. Returns are very low and won't likely get better until 1976 but this is the worst possible time to sell off cows and young stock. The best answer is probably to hang in there, cut and cull down to numbers that can be kept entirely on home-grown feed, expand other enterprises to keep alive and stay on good terms at the bank.

Beef cows can often use feed and pasture areas that would otherwise go to waste and labour can be a very low cost, so that mostly a crop of good weaned calves will add at least a little to profit. It's another case where factual cost accounting may be a little misleading in the farm business.

A final note of interest to girls over 12 years. A new 4-H homemaking project, "A World of Food in Canada", is just starting. We want new members in all communities, and Beatrice McClenaghan, our Home Economist, has the details at 895-4519.
