Mini Manpower office finds jobs are scarce

STOUFFVILLE — Student jobs are very scarce this summer but some relief should be afforded by the town's Mini Manpower which opened last week.

The office, funded by the local recreation committee, is operating out of the old library building and will be open from 8:30 to 4:30, from Monday to Friday.

The Mini Manpower office is staffed this year by Rae MacLaren, 20, a relative newcomer to Stouffville, who hails from Edmonton, Alberta.

Her first week on the job was rather hectic, as at the beginning, she had no office, desk or telephone and it was only after much wrangling, she ended up in the old library.

Ms. MacLaren has been busy since then contacting everybody who hired a student through Mini Manpower last year. She says the response from local businesses has not been encouraging.

"A lot of places just can't afford to hire students this year," she told The Tribune.

She is hoping a lot of people will phone in with requests for casual work such as gardening, painting and window washing. "I don't think every 15 year old kid wants to work all summer," she explained; "Many of them just get bored and want something to do."

She expects to have some problems as many of the students have no work experience, but many employers still require references. "What references can you give when people have never worked before?" she asked.

The high unemployment rate this year, she feels, will not make her job particularly harder. In her opinion,

Truck Tire SPECIAL Gulf Lug King

- Wide, flat tread. Full shoulder-to-shoulder contact puts more working rubber on the road. Heavy traction bars give extra-long even wear with no sacrifice in traction.
- Cool tread-base construction. Layer of cool-running rubber compound between tread and cord body dissipates heat generated by heavy load-hauling at higher speeds.
- Armoured tread and sidewalls. Special cut resistant rubber in tread and sidewalls is stress tempered to prevent snagging, chipping, rock and stump cuts. Reduces repair costs, increases tire life.
