Unqualified success

Altona church turns 100

ALTONA — The 100th anniversary celebration at the Altona Missionary Church over the weekend had two main highlights above all the other activities planned.

The first was a more than capacity crowd for the delightful sacred music night Saturday, estimated at nearly 400. The other was the cutting of the birthday cake Sunday by Mrs. Ada Lewis.

The weekend started off Friday with a youth service featuring the Sieman Family and message from speaker Eric Strachan. Saturday evening, local talent was featured in the sacred music night. Two families which previously attended the church provided music to delight the audience. They were — The Howard Baker family and the Donald Boake family.

Special guest speaker was Arthur Lehman, the only minister sent out from the Altona Church. Others on the program were — Valerie and Christiana Hoover; Edith Lewis; a trio made up of Grace Beelby, Dorothy Reesor and Lillian Byer; Wendy Williams; duet with Glenda Dunkeld and Joyce McDowell; duet by Ron and Linda Sargeant; and a piano solo by Lorne Thompson.

The church was so full for the occasion that extra chairs had to be set up and people stood in the hall. Three services Sunday brought large crowds as well. Former ministers were featured in each of the three Sunday meetings. In the morning, Rev. Dow Sargeant spoke with music by the Jubile Trio of Pefferlaw; while Rev. Frank Huson took the afternoon service and Rev. Gibson Brown spoke in the evening. Master's Touch Trio provided the music.

Righteous army would have affect

By Howard E. Minaker

Several women are strenuously opposing the building of the airport in Pickering. They are refusing to leave a century old house marked for demolition. News reports state that 1,300 women have committed themselves to lay in front of the bulldozers to keep this work from progressing.

There are, however, much more dangerous bulldozers that are threatening not only our houses, but our homes. The airport can destroy houses and land, but sin is destroying homes.

How wonderful if this area could muster such a group who would stand as determinedly against drink, drugs, immorality and the devil. What an effect such an army would have on our homes, schools and the entire populace.

Many great leaders of nations, culture and religion learned to pray at their mothers' knees. Good mothers, sisters and daughters have brought untold blessing to our world.

Nevertheless, all our involvement with earthly issues and problems could disappear with the failure of our next heart beat. We could stand unprepared to meet God in eternity. This is the most important issue of life that must be decided by each person.

God placed so much importance on our eternal welfare that He sent His Son Jesus Christ to be our Saviour. How wonderful to realize that God went to such an extreme to save us from our sins. No disease has ever caused so much tragedy in the human family as sin. No provision could ever be so miraculous to cure, cleanse and heal this great disease as the blood of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ saves, keeps and satisfies.

Sympathy extended Ringwood and area sends its sympathy to the family of the late Bernard Fockler, who died recently. He was raised in that hamlet.
