

"Lil" Leaf and the Elves

It's the time of year that Santa works day and night trying to see boys and girls all over the world. He will arrive at Sheridan Mall on November 29th with a large parade and will meet lots of children in the mall from then until Christmas.

"Lil" Leaf will be around again to help Santa in his visits with all the youngsters and help the elves with all their chores.

"Lil" Leaf is a Sheridan Mall helper, who lends a hand at Easter, Christmas and all sorts of activities through the year. You'll see him around the mall at different times dressed in his green overalls and orange striped sweater.

Photographs will be available of the children with Santa all through the Christmas season and for the kids make sure you see the personalized Christmas Stockings to hang by the fireplace.

Our gift wrapping service will be on the mall for the convenience of the shoppers.

Kiddie Kare is in full swing once again on the main floor just across from Living Lighting, they have loads of toys and pictures to color, so all the little people can have a good time while Mom and Dad enjoy a carefree shopping trip. Don't forget to get a Christmas Tree from the rear parking lot.

A good variety of sizes in spruce, scotch pine, balsam and fir will be available from December 4th.

Hopefully your Xmas shopping can be done in one centre and will be more fun than ever before.

Speedy, automatic microwave oven gift she'll welcome with open arms

Microwave ovens have been around since the mid-'50s, but it has only been in the past five years that ultra-fast microwave cooking has begun to capture the imagination of working wives and creative homemakers alike.

One of the most versatile of the new microwave ovens on the market is the JET90 oven from General Electric. It is the first to offer the homemaker the option of cooking by time or using a solid-state temperature sensor which measures the internal temperature of food and automatically shuts the oven off when the food is ready. As the oven shuts itself off, a buzzer sounds to tell the user that the food can be served.

The temperature sensor can be used when cooking casseroles or meats, warming beverages or soups, or even in heating breads and pastries.

Beyond those points, manufacturers offer a variety of oven capacities, features and power levels ranging from High, or "greased lightning", when speed is of the essence, to Low for "gourmet" slow cooking of tough cuts of meat or baking a chiffon cake.

The feature, called Automatic Chef control, when combined with the new Medium and Low power settings on this microwave oven, permits carefree cooking of roasts with no need to rotate or turn the meat, or re-set the timer, once the oven is started. Even turkeys up to 12 pounds can be cooked with no peeking from the start of the cooking to the finish.

GE says this automatic cooking control takes the guesswork out of microwave cooking since the food is prepared to the desired serving temperature every time.

Some foods, including those you defrost, still cook best on a timed setting, so the JET90 offers the option of timed cooking as well as temperature-controlled cooking for maximum versatility. The 60-minute digital timer will allow you to cook most foods without the need to reset the timer.

In addition to the Automatic Chef control, and three power levels, the JET90 oven also has a capacity of 1.3-cubic-feet. This is 25 per cent larger than previous GE countertop microwave ovens.

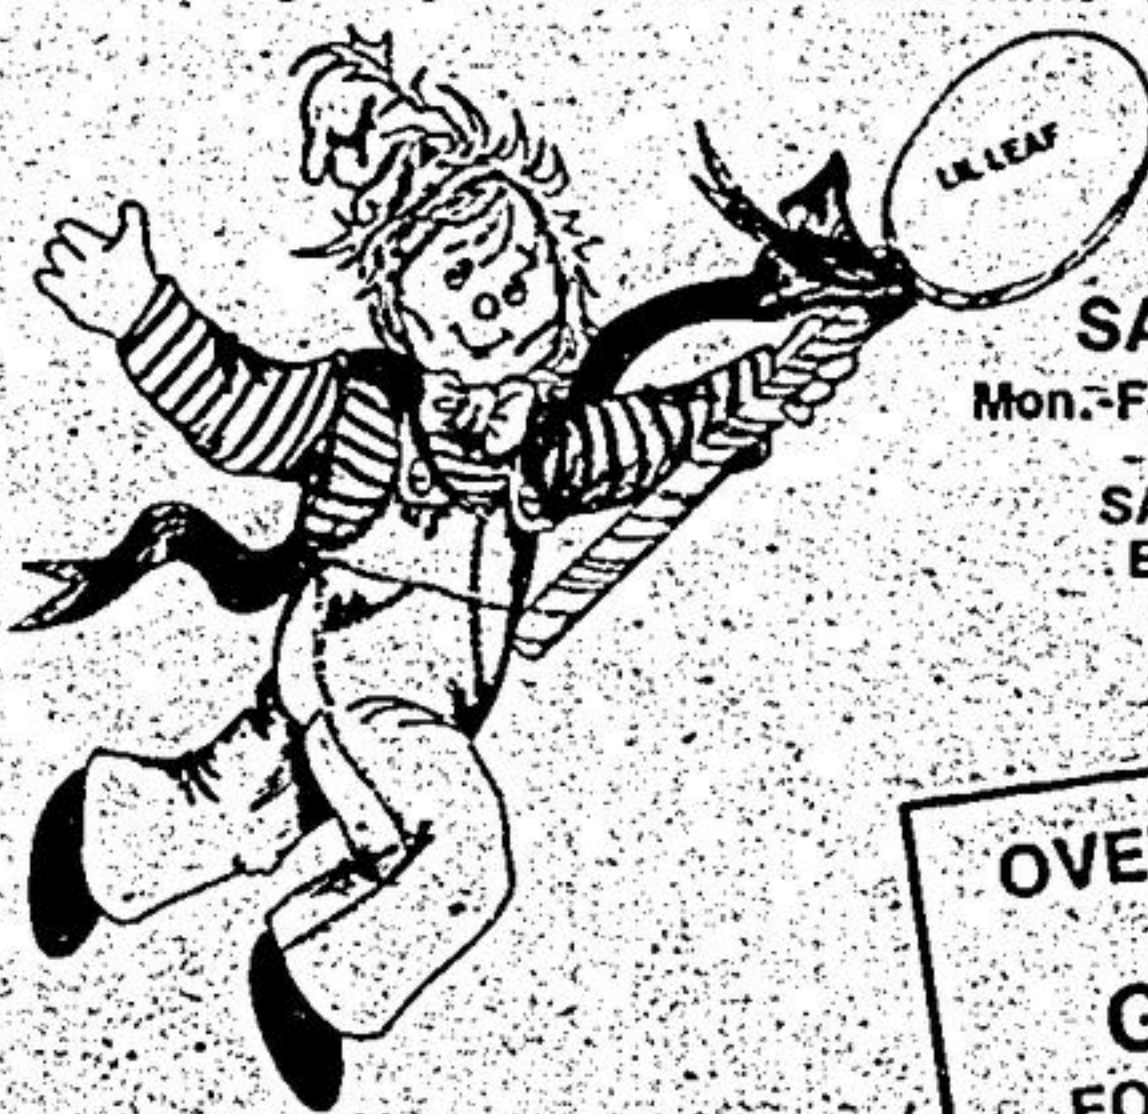

Although there are still no more than a few million microwave ovens installed in American homes, sales are booming and could easily top a million this year.
