

"Checkmate Acres" a small subdivision at Bloomington Rd. and the 9th Line is taking shape as the first four houses go up in the development. Although the developer is presently at cross purposes with council over mining gravel, the subdivision is going ahead. The theme is based on "Chess" and some of the houses are built with parts that resemble chess men. Even the name of the subdivision comes from chess terminology. — Don Bernard

Council can afford library

Dear sir: Regarding council's latest decision on the new library, I cannot understand the mentality which continues to think that it is discharging its recreational and cultural responsibilities to the community by asking for charity. They would lead you to believe that Whitechurch-Stouffville is a depressed area when, in fact, it is one of the more affluent municipalities in Canada. If a project of this nature is worth doing, the costs should be borne as fairly as possible by the whole community and not through the largesse of some members of the community.

Our service clubs should not be expected to spearhead this type of financing. Their efforts should be directed to the more traditional areas, where they have served with distinction in the past.

So much for our "beer pocketbook".

Standards for library space in both Europe and North America call for a library of 12,000 sq. ft. area for a community of our size taking into account the future growth of the community. This allows for the various cultural responsibilities of a library and provides the necessities for the community to keep pace with the tremendous technological changes in society. The library board, knowing the thinking of council, decided to compromise and ask for something less than the average, namely a building of 10,000 sq. ft.

So much for our "champagne taste".

It is a known fact that in buildings of this size, the cost per square rises rapidly as the size of the building is reduced. It is fairly easy to deduce that, with the present rate of inflation by the time that an addition is imperative, the cost of the library will be double the cost if it were built today.

Members of council would be well advised to take a course in business administration. If they could absorb the course contents, they would discover that the sacrifice of long-term planning to short-term political expediency can often be disastrous.

The almighty mill rate is not the "end all and be all". We must think ahead and provide long-term efficiency.

If business operated in the same manner as government, we would indeed live in a depressed area, and be included in the, "have not countries." J.D.L. HARRIS Glad Park Ave. Editor's Note: Mr. Harris is a former member of the Whitechurch-Stouffville Library Board, who resigned in protest over council's offer of $250,000 to build a new library.

Impaired fine delay for wedding

YORK REGION — A 27 year old man who told the court he was getting married in the near future, pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge when he appeared in Newmarket Court last week.

Donald Maxwell Noseworthy of Whitechurch - Stouffville was fined $140 or 14 days by Judge Claude Morrison and told he could take 60 days to pay so that his honeymoon would not be spoiled by lack of funds.

"We won't take the money away from his honeymoon" said Crown Attorney Ian Cunningham, and added, "he'd better make sure he spends the $140 on his wife."
