

Work is well underway on the addition to the United Church on Church St. The footings for the building are now in and the walls should be coming up soon. The construction will add considerably to the churches facilities as there will be a fellowship room, minister's study and a Sunday school room. There will also be some relief for disabled parishioners as a wheelchair lift is to be installed.

New principal looks forward to challenge

BALLANTRAE — Spend time teaching the child things he doesn't know rather than things he already knows" is one of the primary objectives of Lorne Payne as he takes over as principal at Ballantrae Public School this fall.

Mr. Payne told The Tribune he plans to institute diagnostic testing of the children that will inform the teachers exactly what the problem areas are.

"We should tailor programs to meet the needs of the youngster and let him move as quickly as he can," said Mr. Payne.

The new principal at Ballantrae brings with him nine years of teaching experience in Toronto, one in East Gwillimbury, four years as vice-principal at Whitchurch Highlands P.S. and one year each as principal at Schomberg and Ross Doane P.S.

He said he is "looking forward to the challenge" of running a school of about 500 students.

Another of Mr. Payne's intentions, as principal is to "open the school doors to the community... I'm totally open to the community and I want to hear from them if they have any questions about the program and about their youngsters."

He said he wanted parents to "phone me right away" about any problems they have, and that he "won't let something go on and on and on before I notify the parent."

The kind of education Mr. Payne wants is not "total individualization, but you can set up the program so you don't have youngsters bored or at the other end of the scale, frustrated."

Mr. Payne himself hopes to spend part of his time working with pupils who are having learning difficulties, as he has had experience in teaching special education, he said.

"I hope to be aware of what the youngsters are doing, not just stuck in the office. I want to be part of the teaching and learning environment," Mr. Payne concluded.

The new principal's interest in education, he said, goes back to before the beginning of his teaching career. As a high school student in Oshawa he served as a camp counsellor and playground supervisor.

"I had a teacher tell me I was cut out to be a teacher," he recalls, "and I've never regretted it. I really enjoy my work."

He was quick to add, however, that the situation has not reached crisis proportions.

"It's not a crisis any more than any one of us is facing an energy crisis," Mr. Smith noted.

While the final costs could soar $40,000 above budget "at the worst", the accountant said all board spending will be re-evaluated and reallocated at the end of the year.

York board seeks values education policy comments

Trustees of the York County Board of Education are requesting written comments on a recently approved draft policy on Values Education.

The position statement approved by the board reads as follows:

"The Board believes that the purpose of values education is to assist students in the development of a personal moral code that will give them strength and guidance throughout their lives.

The board recognizes that the role of the parents is paramount in helping every young person build a system of values. Since the teacher is a surrogate parent he or she is expected to assume leadership in moral training and to be prepared to take positions which are consistent with moral values of a high standard.

The board believes in respect for the integrity of the individual, and values which incorporate a deep concern for the needs and rights of others, and expects teachers to encourage students to strive to achieve these goals.

The Board believes that any special program designed to develop a personal values system of incidental activities contributing to such development must be within the intent of the Education Act 1974 and in particular section 229 (1) (c), be consistent with policy statements issued by the Ministry (e.g. The Formative Years) and be structured to contribute to the achievement of the Board's written aims and objectives.

Organizations and individuals sending written comments are asked to have them in by September 23 and to direct them to: Chairman Douglas Allen, The York County Board of Education, Box 40, Aurora, L4G 3H2.

A public meeting to discuss written briefs on the policy will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday September 30 at the board's administrative offices, 60 Wellington Street West, Aurora.

Vincent Earl Wagg Lifelong area farmer passes in 83rd year

STOUFFVILLE — Vincent Earl Wagg, a lifelong area farmer, passed away early Sunday morning, September 5, at the age of 83.

Mr. Wagg took over his dad's farm on lot 6, concession 9, Whitchurch, one and one quarter mile north of Stouffville in 1928.

His father before him had lived on the farm for 56 years and the sideroad had become known as Wagg sideroad.

The deceased lived on the farm and worked it for 67 years, until April, 1961. He retired and moved to Lloyd St., Stouffville, where he enjoyed good health until about four years ago.

He was the last survivor of a family of seven children born to James and Rachael Wagg.

He leaves mourning; his wife Jeanett; three daughters, Margaret, (Mrs. Ross Hill), Bloomfield, Reta, (Mrs. Anton Assinck), Markham, and Dorothy at home; three step children: Eunice, (Mrs. Harry Caulfield), Oakville, Fred Woodland, Uxbridge; 11 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mr. Wagg was a member of the Bloomington Christian Associated Gospel Church.

Separate schools face economic crunch

RICHMOND HILL — Increasing costs for heat, light and water could leave the York Region separate school board facing an economic crunch by the end of the year.

The $165,000 utilities portion of the plant operations budget could fall $30,000 to $40,000 short of actual costs, board accountant Peter Smith said last week.

While the final costs could soar $40,000 above budget "at the worst", the accountant said all board spending will be re-evaluated and reallocated at the end of the year.
