

G. Rodanz named to farm hall of fame

THORNHILL — George Rodanz, who is well-known for the Hereford cattle he raised at Ringwood Farms, has been named to the Royal Agricultural Hall of Fame for 1976 and has been inducted into the Canadian Hereford Honour Roll.

Mr. Rodanz, now 68 years old, is enjoying his retirement at his home on Fairway Heights, Thornhill.

Mr. Rodanz, and wife Hannah, who retired and moved to a fruit and vegetable farm at Goodwood when he was one year old.

At the age of 16 he purchased a truck and from this he developed a large transport business. Following the acquisition of some land in the Stouffville area in 1934, he bought his first Herefords from M.J. O'Brien, Renfrew, Ont. In 1937 he attended the Robert Hazlett dispersion sale at El Dorado, Kansas, and selected 19 females and the bull, Hazford Tone 171st. Del Zento 1st was purchased in 1946 for the record price at that time, of $51,000. From this solid foundation, Ringwood Farms cattle have been sold into every province, the U.S. and Europe.

Instead of steak with mushrooms, the lucky owner of this mammoth puffball can have mushrooms with steak. Alvin Gray found the giant puffball in his fields near the 7th line in Pickering.

Centre for children to open in October

RICHMOND HILL — The Ontario Association for Children with Learning Disabilities will be opening an A.C.L.D. resource centre at Crosby Heights Senior Public School in Richmond Hill. General meeting and centre opening will be held at the school on Crosby Street on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 8 p.m.

Dr. John B. Fotheringham, director of I.O.D.E. Children's Centre at North York General Hospital, will be the guest speaker at the opening.

The York Region chapter has one main objective — to advance the education and general well-being of children shown to have specific learning disabilities.

They plan to do this by educating parents, teachers, and the general public and developing effective communications with the board of education, as well as setting up special programs to help the learning disabled child.

The A.C.L.D. is a totally volunteer chapter and they could use more members.

Anyone interested is asked to contact the resource centre. Conversely, anyone in need of assistance or information is also welcomed.

The number of the resource centre is 884-7933.

"It all depends on your point of view" is an old saying, and when one is at the top of the C.N. Tower your point of view is indeed changed. How beautiful the city of Toronto, the lake with patches of sunlight shining, the Toronto Islands and the blue hills to the north, and how tiny are the people! A bus load from the Good Neighbours Club enjoyed this view last Wednesday from the world's tallest free-standing structure and highest public observation deck.

A large crowd gathered on Saturday for the Disney sale here in the village as auctioneers Earl Gauslin and Norman Faulkner obtained good prices for the many articles.
