

Canadian Youths, a Christian radio broadcast utilizing local talent, recently passed its 25th anniversary. The youth panel segment of the show, which is beamed around the world, is taped at the Stouffville Youth Centre.

Youths radio program passes 25th year

By Ted Wilcox
STOUFFVILLE — Outside its immediate vicinity, few people have heard the name of Stouffville...right?

Wrong. In fact, the village of Stouffville has become known by hundreds of people around the world as the location of the Canadian Youths, Radio program, which last week passed its 25th anniversary in broadcasting.

The program which is beamed 23 times weekly around the world, is designed to reach youth with the message of Christianity, and features local young people as panelists in each session.

Produced by Don Ratcliff of R.R. 4, Stouffville, the broadcast first grew out of Youth for Christ rallies which were held in the Stouffville Missionary Church, the St. James Presbyterian Church and the Second Markham Baptist (Now Springvale Baptist) Church.

Another outgrowth of those rallies are the youth programs still held each Sunday night at the Parkside Youth Centre on the Stouffville - Gormley Road.

Canadian Youths Radio originally involved a one-half hour magazine type of program with gospel music, a seven-minute message and a "teen panel" discussing some topic.

Rev. Norman Rowan,

former pastor of the Second Markham Baptist Church, was one of the early radio preachers for the show.

In more recent years, the program was streamlined to have only panel segments and gospel music, co-ordinated by an announcer. Dr. Stephen Brown of Florida, himself former prize-winning disc jockey, acts as the show's announcer and gives a brief wind-up at each program's end.

The local panelists meet once a month at the Youth Centre where they tape four segments and decide on topics for the next taping session.

Panel members are:

Terry Ratcliff, Donna Milligan and Dave Lawrence, all from the Stouffville area, and Winston Thurton, of Toronto.

"There's nothing the matter with sermons," says Don Ratcliff, "But if you can present a different type of bait that a station doesn't already have, they're apt to go after it."

In fact, he receives three or four letters weekly from various stations asking to air the show.

The problem lies in the fact that the stations all want to be paid each week for broadcasting the program, and Canadian Youths has limited funds.

The U.S. stations which broadcast the program, however, all do so free of charge as a public service.

"In Canada, it's another ball game," said Mr. Ratcliff. "You pay for it, period. You've got to have the money."

Altogether, 18 stations in all broadcast the show.

Mr. Ratcliff tells of having the show accepted recently on a large rock station in Fort Pearce, Florida. The station was looking for a program which would make the switch from sermons to rock music a bit less abrupt on Sunday mornings, and Canadian Youths fit the bill.

That station agreed to air the show for no charge.

The topics covered by the panelists have included everything from dating to Bible study to choosing a college.

A subject being discussed when The Tribune visited the studio last week was that of divorce, and a family law solicitor was on hand as a guest panelist.

The world-wide impact of the program is demonstrated by the places letters have been received from through the years. Responses have come from India, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Europe and North, South and Central America.

Five shortwave broadcasts a week go out from HCJB, high atop the Andes Mountains in Ecuador.

A recent letter came from a man convicted of homicide now residing in British Honduras.

Former members of Claremont Baptist Church will be happy to hear that the Rev. F. A. Luck and Mrs. Luck, now living in Brantford, are the proud grandparents of their second grandchild, Devin Michael, born October 21, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Craig of Toronto.

Saturday weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al

Robertson were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brown of New Carrollton, Maryland, Keith Norton of Kingston, and Paul Nesbitt and Tracey and Todd of Little Britain and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pascoe of Claremont. On Sunday their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Redman of Markham, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter White and Ken of Claremont. A happy coincidence was that Mrs. Robertson's sister, Mrs. Redman, and her niece Mrs. White, mother and daughter, were both celebrating their birthdays on the same day - Sunday.

The All Ontario

LET'S DISCUSS STOUFFVILLE

My family and I like Stouffville. We like the tree-lined streets and the open spaces where children can play in safety. We all enjoy the many facilities, the parks and swimming pools, library and arena, so accessible to each of us. Above all, we enjoy the friendliness of the town and our neighbours. All of us benefit from the original charm and character of Stouffville established over the years and still so evident. These qualities must be guarded and preserved.

Change is knocking at the door, and our quality of life is threatened. While some changes are inevitable and some will certainly be good, we must all be aware and informed before their arrival. As Councillor for Ward 6, I'll be concerned about subjects that matter. I'll be reporting to you, all of you, on what is before Council and how it may affect you. Your concerns will be my concerns and upon your response, I will act.
