

ANNIVERSARY

JULY 1, 1927

Canada's diamond Jubilee and Stouffville's 50th anniversary celebration celebrated July 1, 1927, featured a large parade. (top picture). A lot of horse and buggy outfits were still in evidence, along with the more 'modern' cars. Note the arena in the background. The middle photo shows members of the Stouffville Women's Institute as they hold a reunion on the occasion of the Jubilee. At bottom are trucks from the Stouffville Planing Mill (now Schell Lumber) and Barkey Bros. Machine Works (now Stouffville Machine & Tool Works), which participated in the parade.
