

FESTIVITIES

CENTENNIAL

1977

Reg Button, Lloyd Freel and Millard Reesor played the part of their ancestors in a re-enactment of the village's first council meeting.

Hundreds of balloons were set aloft at the Mayor's levee to start off the centennial year. In the middle picture descendants from Stouffville's first reeves re-enact the past. The bottom picture shows contestants in the Country Fair Day bedrace, held to raise funds for the town's new library, a centennial project.
