

Reader blames high earners

Dear Editor:
Ever since the invention of civilizations their survival has depended on some form of open or concealed slavery and social injustice. In Canada, this rule has applied and our system has always fattened itself with cheap immigrant labor and cheap imports from foreign semi-slave countries.

During the past provincial election when one party advocated the raising of the minimum wage, the two opposing provincial leaders predicted the Ontario economy would suffer if the low paid unorganized workers were given increased wages. After the election all of the politicians granted themselves an increase in wages greater than that proposed for the minimum wage workers.

As an independent person wanting to live in my own home and avoid those modern porches politely known as senior citizens' residences, my economic problem is not with the slave laborers but with those highly organized union, technical and professional groups of every description, who under the guise of collective bargaining hold a gun to my head and threaten to deny me essential goods and services unless I meet their exorbitant wage demands.

Society has always needed a scapegoat on which to lay our collective sins, and it is time the politicians blamed the high wage earners for pricing our economy out of the competitive marketplace. Or are they afraid to attack Big Labor?

This letter has been prompted by M.P. Sinclair Stevens column of Sept 29th, headed: "High minimum wage hurts competitiveness of small businesses."

Yours sincerely
JOHN LIVINGSTONE,
R.R.1 LOCUST HILL

Non-smokers shooting mouths off

Dear Sir,
In regards to your recent publication on non-smokers rights.

I believe it is time for smokers to stand up for their rights. I wish to emphasize the fact that smokers have rights too.

This person complains about us saying our rights have been removed, what makes him believe that he has any more rights than we have.

These people are always shooting off their big mouths about non-smokers right, granted they have them, but what makes them believe that we don't have any. They come where we have designated areas to smoke and then they have the nerve to complain about the smoke. If they don't like smoke why do they come to these places.

I believe that if someone took the time to do an unbiased survey on this matter they would find that we the smokers would be in the majority. This is a free country with equal rights, why can't these bigots see this.

Also they say smoking causes ill effects. Since when did they become experts? Smoking is no more harmful than breathing the polluted air. We know the risks of smoking and if we choose to do it that is our business.

This person has the nerve to call us rude. As far as I am concerned he must be very ignorant or think he is perfect.

Our mistake

During the refreshment period several people commented that if the plaque disappeared they would know where to look for it right away — on Dr. Bill Murphy's front lawn.

Dr. Murphy allowed as it was only reasonable for him to get the plaque as he lives on the site of the first Stouffer home.
