

These well-bundled up Ballantrae Beavers were thrilled to ride on their float, despite the bitter cold.

Bobby Curtola was one of the frozen exhibits on display at the Santa Parade. He rode a float publicizing his appearance at the new Markham fairgrounds this Saturday.

Paraders brave cold, blustery weather Kinsmen brought Santa on Saturday

Even lions had to wear coats last Saturday. Here Ray Conn clowns it up for the kids.

Despite frozen knees and reddened, frost-bitten hands, these pipers played bravely on.

After the Santa Claus parade was over old St. Nick went to visit a few of his friends around town. Here he is having a lively discussion with Sam McKuen of the Stouffville

Nursing Home. It seems that Sam was a little skeptical as to whether this was the real Santa Claus or not.
