For those of us who are not travelling to exotic southern climes this winter the Exotic Plant and Flower Show held at White Rose Nursery during the past week provided a breath of the tropics. The large display of rare and tropical plants drew a large crowd, many heavily armed with camera equipment. The display consisted of a long ambling walkway, pond with gold fish and a fine display of orchids. The show ran from Feb. 9 to 14.

Snowbanks coming down

By Jennie Johnson
Our snowplow operator spent several hours in our neighborhood recently knocking back the snowbanks and widening the roads. He certainly did a good job which makes for much easier and safer driving. Perhaps after the groundhog saw his shadow the snowplow operator thought "six more weeks of winter and SNOW."

According to my weather guide, "The Farmers' Almanac", February is holding a few more snow storms for us and more cold weather.

The February meeting of Pine Grove

Church Ladies Auxiliary was held at the home of Della Moore, Uxbridge. Eighteen ladies sat down to a delicious pot luck dinner and afterwards enjoyed a period of Christian fellowship.

Mrs. Charles Fiss entertained a number of ladies from the Glen and Mt. Zion to luncheon and a quilting on Tuesday.

Mrs. Michael Kavanagh was a luncheon guest of Mrs. Paul Peterli, Claremont, on Wednesday.
