The firemen Olympics games was a big event at Uxbridge last Sunday. Above the two teams of firemen are trying to hose the large ball down to their opponent's end. The team on the right, Pickering Number 3, had the steadiest and surest aim as they won this event. The picture at left shows the young lady amazed at the height she achieved from her shoe toss as part of the toddlers Olympic events on Saturday.

Spring days success

Everyone in Uxbridge must be breathing a huge, satisfying, sigh of relief following their highly successful five days of craziness. The Spring Water Days festival ended last Sunday in what Ed Evans, organizer, called "the best year ever." The festival was blessed with great weather and the largest crowd in its history. It was estimated there were over 700 cars in Elgin Park for the Sunday activities, along with the 100 cars parked on the adjacent street. An indication of how successful the festival was, was the 400 lbs. of roast beef used for the barbecue dinner on Sunday, to feed approximately 700 people. The only hitch in the activities was the hour delay for the parade on Saturday. Apparently one of the marching bands' instruments failed to show up on time, and in fact are still missing.

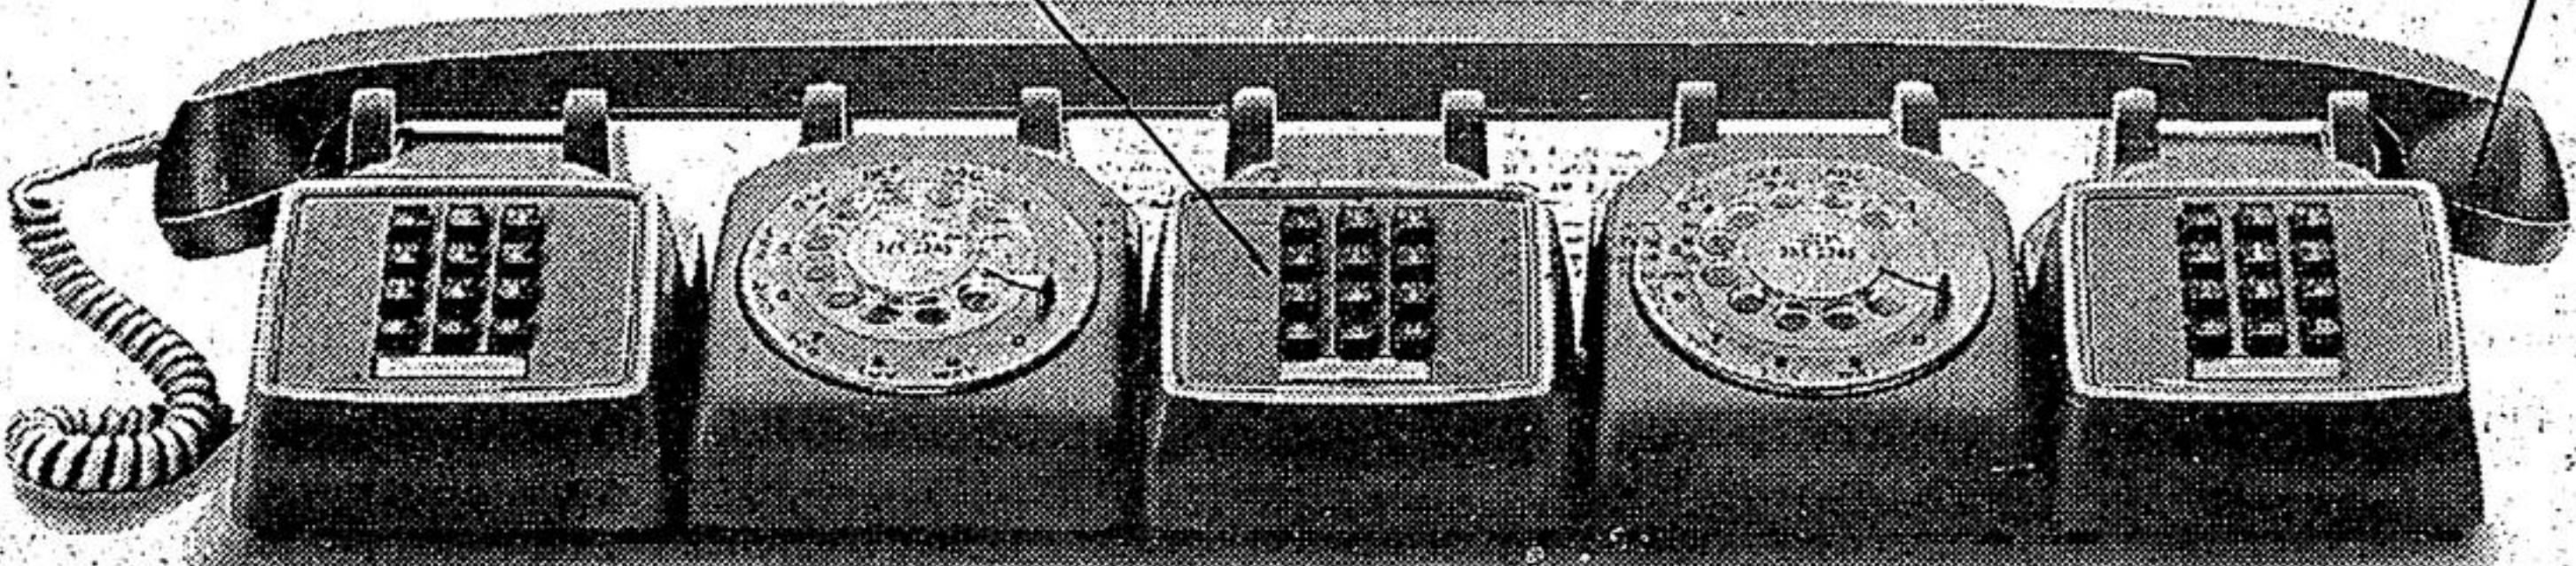

Mickey Mouse is 50 years old this year, and to help celebrate the Uxbridge Public Library held a birthday bash for him. The children were shown films and given balloons and cake-cones at the party. Above the Uxbridge chief librarian gives Mickey an intriguing look. Keith Bolender

You mean if I wanted to speak person-to-person to Italy, I could dial that call myself?

YES.
