Two new tractors from John Deere... the right size... the right price... for countless jobs today and tomorrow

Most of the tractors on the market today are either too small or too large for your needs. Then take a look at two new tractors from John Deere... the 22-PTD 850 and 27-PTD 950.

When you're taking care of a small acreage or farming hobby... handling a grounds maintenance service or a construction business... or doing other seasonal work... you'll like the different sizes of these two new John Deere tractors.

It's a power size we know well. In fact, we built our reputation on John Deere Tractors under 30 horsepower. Many of these "old" John Deere tractors are still working today, and many more could be used. So these new tractors are getting hard to find. And the good ones cost more than you want to pay. So we're introducing the new 850 and 950 with the same build of the John Deere tractors... the same reliability in a compact size at a savings price.

Yes, both models are mighty reasonably priced. And that means you can afford new tractors instead of used tractor problems. (That's right, each new 850 and 950 comes with a warranty backed by John Deere.) And your John Deere dealer is the man you can count on for parts service and sound advice.
